

MEDICS SAY POISON WIDOW TOLD TRUTH

PAINLEVE HAD HARD TASK TO FORM CABINET

Divergence Between Calliaux and Briand Was Chief Obstacle in Way

WILL SETTLE WAR DEBT

Observers Expect Life of Ministry Will Be as Difficult as Its Birth

Paris—Rarely has a French cabinet been so difficult to form as that completed by Paul Painleve Thursday night to succeed the fallen Herriot ministry.

Several times during the negotiations the task appeared quite impossible, but M. Painleve persevered, and at about midnight Thursday night was able to send President Doumergue the following list:

President of the council and minister of war, M. Painleve.
Foreign minister, Aristide Briand.
Finance, Joseph Calliaux.
Justice and vice president of the council, Jules Steeg.
Public instruction, Anatole De Monzie.
Interior, A. Schrameck.
Commerce, Charles Chaumet.
Marine, Emile Borel.
Colonies, Andre Hesse.
Agriculture, Jean Durand.
Public works, Pierre Laval.
Labor, Antoine Durafour.
Director of the navy, Louis Blandin.
The under-secretaries are:
Liberated Regions, Jammy Schmidt.
War, Jean Ossoola.
Merchant Marine, Charles Daniello.
Air, M. Larent-Eynas.
Fine Arts, Yvon Delbos.

In addition, a special under-secretaryship to the premier will be assumed by Georges Bonnet as soon as the necessary bill has been passed by parliament, and the post of commissioner general at the war office is reserved, to be filled by Paul Benazet.

WANTED LOUCHEUR

The main obstacle in forming the ministry was the divergence between Calliaux and Briand. The latter wanted Louis Loucheur to be a member of the cabinet, but M. Loucheur was not in agreement with Calliaux on various questions and hesitated a long time. Then he accepted the portfolio of commerce, only to change his mind at the last moment and abstain.

The two former premiers also are represented as being by no means of one mind regarding a financial policy. Altogether the opinion expressed in political circles is that the ministry's life will be about as difficult as its birth and that it will not be a long one.

The new cabinet will command about the same majority in the chamber of deputies as the outgoing administration, but it cannot count on Socialist support.

In the senate the Ministry will meet with considerable opposition owing principally to the appointment of Calliaux. Former Premier Polignac upon learning of Calliaux's appointment, is reported to have exclaimed "Calliaux is a challenge to the senate."

WILL SETTLE DEBTS

Settlement of the war debts will be one of the first cares of the new finance minister, M. Calliaux, according to friends, with whom he talked Thursday. M. Calliaux will, first of all, it is said, set about to provide a safe working margin of cash for the French treasury, and then with a view to financial stabilization of the franc, will take up the debts, which he considers one of the greatest obstacles to a complete financial renovation.

The new finance minister, it is added, will confirm M. Clementel's assurances that France intends to repudiate no obligation but he will negotiate closely as to terms and perhaps as to amounts. An indication of how he regards the war debt is found in his speech of Feb. 12, on the occasion of his "rehabilitation" after the amnesty, in which said:

"Our country would have met the crazy financial chaos which continued long after the armistice. If everything in fact had not been thrown on her shoulders the burden of advancing the entire cost of repairing the war damages, with the partial paying of some of them, and the weight of the interrelated debts."

Chicago Police Fear
Another Taxicab War

Chicago, Ill.—Finding of the body of a private taxicab owner shot through the head and then run over by an automobile last night was interpreted by police as the possible opening of a new taxicab war. Several bombings of taxicabs have occurred within the past week.

VINDICATE WIDOW ACCUSED BY DYING DERANGED HUSBAND

Antigo—After almost 12 hours of questioning, authorities here were convinced Friday that Mrs. Charles Schisel was not implicated in the slaying of her husband's throat five days ago. The man died at a local hospital Thursday and up to the time of death charged that his wife cut his throat with a jackknife. She, on the other hand, stated that he had done so in an attempt to commit suicide.

Investigation by county officers revealed that Schisel's mind had been deranged for over four years. Questioning of neighbors disclosed that Mrs. Schisel summoned their aid while her husband was cutting his throat and that one of them took the knife from him.

A coroner's inquest is pending, but authorities were of the opinion that none was necessary.

Yerkes Head Says Comets Are New Ones

Chicago—The faint comets discovered in the last three weeks, probably have never been before, according to Edwin B. Frost, director of the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago at Williams Bay. Early reports had identified one of the recently discovered comets as the comet of 1917.

The comets are not bright enough to be visible to the naked eye, and it is not likely they will become conspicuous objects.

"Only short portions of these bodies have thus far been observed and hence their future movements cannot yet be predicted with much certainty," Director Frost said. "However, at present it does not seem probable that any of the three comets have been seen before and were expected to return during 1925."

U. S. Starts Fight To Recover War Profits

Philadelphia—Suit for the recovery by the government of $11,000,000 to $15,000,000 from the Bethlehem steel interests for alleged overpayment for war construction work was entered Friday in the United States District court.

The defendants named in the action by the government are the Bethlehem Steel corporation, Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation Ltd., Bethlehem Steel Co., the Fore River Shipbuilding corporation and the Union Iron Works Co.

The ship construction contracts on which government claimed overpayments exceeded $50,000,000. The amount is above the 10 per cent profit which the government allowed contractors on war work.

Lindsey Keeps Seat, Decision Of Court

Denver, Colo.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver's juvenile court retains the bench seat he has held for more than 20 years, Judge Julian H. Moore ruled in district court Friday in throwing out the election contest suit brought by Royal R. Graham, defeated candidate for the office.

Judge Lindsey was given an official majority of 35 votes by the court following a recount of the vote.

140 Killed By Explosion Of Bomb In Balkan Church

Sofia, Bulgaria—Latest figures show that 140 persons, including 20 women and 10 children were killed in the explosion of an infernal machine in the cathedral of Sveti Kiril during the funeral of General Georgeff Wednesday. Six generals and thirty other officers were among those killed.

Sofia Friday was in a state of ferment, the greatest excitement prevailing throughout the country while the military authorities have ordered a curfew established, the streets to be cleared at 7:30 P. M.

Although all the members of the government were present at the funeral services in the cathedral none was seriously injured. Premier Tsankoff was one of those injured but was unable to preside over the cabinet during its emergency session Friday.

The director of the central prison was assassinated in the street here Friday but otherwise there were no disturbances last night or this morning in either Sofia or the provinces. Passengers on trains are being searched rigorously. Citizens are enrolling and forming patrols to maintain order under the direction of the war minister General Voulkoff.

General Georgeff, whose funeral was being held when the explosion occurred, was assassinated in the street here Tuesday night. The assassination closely followed an attempt upon the life of King Boris as he was motorizing near Sofia.

HUBER SEALS FATE OF TITUS BILL

Blaine Raps And Praises New Tax Bill As He Signs Name To It

Madison—Although the income tax bill recently passed by the legislature is not the kind of tax bill that he would write, Governor Blaine announced Friday, he signed it with the suggestion that "such imperfections as exist" may be remedied by future legislation.

The bill was amended in the senate "by a combination of votes against the administration," the executive declared, but he "must accept or reject it as a whole."

Governor Blaine recited what he said the bill accomplishes, asserting that it will shift the burden from homes, farms and business property to incomes to the amount of $4,500,000, assuming that it will yield about $12,000,000. It will give the state $381,000 less, he said.

"If the towns, cities, villages, counties and schools will limit their expenditures to about what they were last year," the governor said, the gasoline tax and income tax bills "mean a total tax reduction on real and personal property of at least $15,000,000."

The executive's statement follows:

"The tax bill as it comes to me is not the kind of a tax bill I would write. It was amended in the senate by a combination of votes against the administration. I have no power to amend a bill. I must accept or reject it as a whole. Such imperfections as exist, as experience may demonstrate, may be remedied by future legislation, without detriment to our general tax policy and without foisting unfair burdens upon those least able to pay."

QUOTES PHILIPP

"It is true the bill follows the recommendations of Governor Philipp as made in his message in 1917. He said:

UPPER HOUSE KILLS MOTOR CAR MEASURE

Finance Committee Recommends Passage of Fishing License Increase

Madison—Blaine administration senators and Lieutenant Governor Henry Huber Thursday night sealed the fate of the Titus bill for the consolidation of state bureaus, boards and commissions. On motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was refused enactment, the senate for a second time voted to tie and for a second time during the day, Mr. Huber voted with the administration senators to kill the bill.

The earlier vote on which a tie was broken was on the question of an amendment, resulting in a vote of 16 to 15. The vote on reconsideration Thursday night was 15 to 14.

During the entire debate on the Titus bill which had been before the senate for the greater part of the week, it was manifest that the administration forces were opposed to a plan of consolidating overlapping state boards and commissions. To make their stand seem tenable they declared through administration floor leader A. E. Garey their faith in the state board of public affairs to work out a system by which duplication in state office could be eliminated. Mr. Garey said the board had been working along these lines for about two years.

KILL KEMP GILL

The state senate Friday killed, 15 to 12, the Kemp bill which would have made the owner of a motor vehicle liable in civil damages for negligence of operators thereof.

On motion, the judiciary committee bill to require supporting testimony to that of the complaining witness in statutory cases involving women was identically postponed, 17 to 10. Senator A. E. Garey, administration floor leader, voted with the majority for the purpose of moving for reconsideration.

The Quick bill to extend the curriculum in four-year high schools to cover a six-year course desired, was passed unanimously by the senate. The judiciary committee bill allowing judges to pass sentence in juvenile cases according to their discretion, instead of for the period of minority, also passed the senate.

Assembly bill 170 providing for a system of police pensions in cities of the fourth class was unanimously concurred in by the senate.

An adjournment was taken until Monday evening.

The big conservation commission bill appropriating $245,000 annually for the commission and increasing non-resident fishing license fees Friday was recommended to the senate by the joint finance committee of the legislature.

Fishing license fees for non-residents would be increased from $2 to $5, three-fifths of which would go to the commission.

The assembly taxation committee has decided to recommend the Ingersoll resolution for an interim tax committee to study the whole taxation problem in Wisconsin for adoption.

The preliminary political convention plan, providing for selection of primary candidates and the drafting of platforms in state conventions before the primaries, was recommended for passage by the assembly elections committee, with the amendment making the representation at the conventions five delegates from each assembly district.

WYOMING OIL BOOM TOWN PREPARES TO MOVE TO NEW SITE

Laroye, Wyo.—Laroye, the little oil boom town whose right to its place on Wyoming's map recently was denied by a federal court, Friday meekly prepared for the end of its earthly existence in accordance with the mandate of the law.

The townspeople, numbering almost 1,800, who were held in trespass on Laroye's site because the Ohio Oil company holds a government lease on the soil, were deliberating plans for dismantling buildings and homes and for moving all they founded here in the frantic oil rush of 1920.

The hamlet's business leaders at an impromptu meeting Thursday night voted almost unanimously its decision to abide with the law's decree.

Sailstad, At Large, Longs For Dorothy

Green Bay—Edward Sailstad, former Eau Claire photographer manufacturer, in company with H. F. Murphy, state parole agent, was on his way Friday for a town in the southern part of Wisconsin where he will be employed in a machine shop.

The doors of the Green Bay reformatory where he had served 15 months of a four year sentence on a charge of arson up to the time of his parole last week, were opened for him late Thursday night.

As Sailstad left the reformatory and took a seat in the automobile which brought him to the Northwestern station here, he said that he wished Dorothy Anderson would be freed too. The latter is serving a four year term as his accomplice at the Womans industrial home near Fond du Lac. She is expected to be considered for parole next month.

"Dying" Financier Flees Fresh Charge

Los Angeles, Calif.—John W. Worthington "Wolf of LaSalle Street" Chicago, believed to be dying here as he faces a penitentiary term following his conviction in the east of fraudulent operations, disappeared Friday when fresh charges of embezzlement were laid against him by the Los Angeles district attorney's office.

It is charged in the complaint, in which Samuel P. Ballentine of the brokerage firm also was named, that Worthington and Ballentine had engaged in a bond juggling conspiracy here which had resulted in the embezzlement of $50,000.

Order Cut In Freight Rates From Pittsburg

Washington, D. C.—Railroads were ordered Friday by the interstate commerce commission to reduce rates on iron and steel articles moving from Pittsburg to St. Louis, southern Illinois and nearly all points in Indiana.

The existing rate schedules were held to be unfair as compared with the rates maintained from the Chicago district to the same consuming territory.

Test Strength Of Oahu In Defense Of Mainland

San Francisco, Calif.—The strategic importance of the island of Oahu in the defense of the United States was being brought home to the officers and men of the armada of America as the staffs of command poured over maps and charts in a final check of plans for the attack against the island which is the main base of the enemy, while the fleet entered its third day of steaming.

Situated near the geographical center of north Pacific, Honolulu's status as a port of call makes it worthy of its claim that it is the "crossroads of the Pacific." But more important to the naval and military strategists is the fact that Oahu is the hub of the nation's defense of the Pacific coast and acts as a buffer between the coast from Alaska to the Canal Zone, and any enemy that might move across the Pacific to the mainland of the United States.

If the island was held by such an enemy they would constitute a threat of formidable dimension against the coast, it has been pointed out.

The defense of Oahu, the only fortified island in the group, have been strengthened greatly in recent years to provide against attack by new and improved weapons of warfare. Like other defenses, these cannot be said to be complete for this can never be determined until actually subjected to the test of war.

WOMAN IS TOO WEAK TO TALK BEFORE JUDGE

Chemist's Examination Corroborates Mrs. Cunningham's Confession

KILLED TRIO TO JOIN "PA"

Examiners Find Much Arsenic in Organs of Walter but None in Harry's

Crown Point, Ind.—Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 42-year-old Gary, Ind., widow, who has confessed she poisoned three of her children and tried to end her own life so they could join her husband "in heaven," still was too weak Friday for a preliminary hearing on the charge that she murdered her son, Walter.

County Prosecutor August A. Bremer pointed out Friday that the report of Purdue university chemists, received Thursday night, corroborated Mrs. Cunningham's confession.

The chemists found a large amount of arsenic in the vital organs of Walter Cunningham but none in the organs of Harry Cunningham, Prosecutor Bremer said. Mrs. Cunningham, while admitting that she poisoned Walter, Isabelle and Charles Cunningham, denied that she had given Harry any poison. She also told of giving poison to David Jr., who now is in a Chicago hospital "where physicians are fighting to save his life, but said she did not poison her only surviving daughter, Mae, because she did not love Mae enough."

TOOK POISON HERSELF

She had poisoned the children she loved best, the woman declared in her strained confession, and took some of the poison herself so they could "join Pa in heaven." Twice Mrs. Cunningham has collapsed and been found in an apparent cataleptic state since she was taken into custody in Chicago Saturday, and later turned over to the authorities of Lake-co, Indiana. She had recovered Friday from the effects of the collapse Thursday except that she still was so weak that Prosecutor Bremer said he attempted to make Friday to take her before a justice of the peace on the murder charge.

Plans for a sanity test are understood to be under consideration by Mrs. Cunningham's lawyers, employed by her daughter, Mae, but Prosecutor Bremer said no such test would be permitted until after the grand jury has acted.

Dynamite Blast Costs Man Eye, Three Fingers

Wausau—Sydney Whitehouse of near Birnamwood is at an Antigo hospital with one eye destroyed, three fingers torn from one hand and there is a probability that the other eye will be lost as the result of an unexpected explosion of dynamite while blowing out stumps.

A charge of dynamite had been placed under a stump and after a time it was concluded the fuse had failed. The charge was removed and Mr. Whitehouse was attempting to remove the fuse when the explosion came.

Exonerate Official Of Woodenware Firm

Grand Jury J. J. Hoeheke, former secretary and treasurer of the Northern Woodenware Co. here, was exonerated in district court here Thursday of a charge of arson. Judge Quinlan nolleed the charge because of insufficient evidence.

THE MAGIC RUG

Recently in Douglas Fairbank's great triumph "The Thief of Bagdad" we were very much fascinated by the spectacle of the "Magic Rug" soaring in swift flight over tree-tops and dwellings.

No rug, however, moved at a swifter pace than one advertised recently by Mrs. Cohen, 242 N. Mendota. She reported 19 responses immediately after its showing. It almost appeared as though someone had inside information that this was the "Magic Rug" itself. Profit by reading and using A. B. C. Classified ads. (Want-ads) Phone Ad Taker 543.

GEIGER GIVEN CONTRACT FOR TRENCH DIGGING

Water Commission Gets Started on Years Work of Installing Mains

John Geiger was awarded the contract for excavating and backfilling trenches for water service mains, by the water works commission Thursday afternoon at its regular meeting. Mr. Geiger's bids were lowest submitted. His quotations on trenching in paved streets were 25 cents per running foot, and in unpaved streets 35 cents. John McHugh was given contract for digging 250 feet of trench for the installation of a main at the pumping station, his bid being $1 the running foot.

Fred R. Morris, secretary of the commission, was instructed to advertise for bids for digging trenches for installation of mains on S River-st. from S. Lawrence-st. to S. Kernan-ave. on Calumet-st. from S. Jefferson-st. to S. Onondaga-st. and on S. Jefferson-st. from the present terminus to E. Calumet-st. The trenching on these streets amounts to about 5,000 running feet.

At the meeting of the commission bills amounting to $1,243.10 were allowed, and likewise a payroll of $1,149.66 for March.

A report by Mr. Morris stated there are 3,350 properties on streets in which there are water mains who are not using water. There are 410 houses on improved streets among that number, while the rest of the properties are empty lots.

Peddlers Put On Pan By Ad Writers Club

Activities of canvassers and peddlers were discussed by local merchants at a meeting of Appleton Advertising club Thursday noon in Hotel Northern. Among the speakers were H. A. Schlitz of Schlitz Brothers Drug, Julius Koppin of Thiede Good Clothes, Frank J. Helndel of Gloudeamans-Gage Co., William Frank of the Fair store, Gerald Galpin of A. Galpin Sons, J. E. Murphy of Gemens Dry Goods Co. and H. C. Tunison of the Pettibone Peabody Co.

Hugh G. Corbett read Bill 450, known as "Truth in Advertising," which is now before the Wisconsin state legislature and is endorsed by Appleton Advertising club. The club requested its members in this territory to forward their approval of the measure to Senator Lehman or George Nelson, chairman of the joint finance committee at Madison.

Ralph Gee was elected delegate to represent Appleton Advertising club at the twenty-first annual convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at Houston, Texas, from May 2 to the 15. A committee of three was appointed by the president to meet with a committee of the retail division of the chamber of commerce.

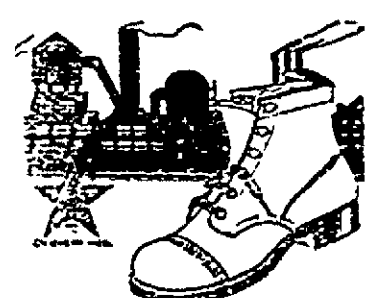

PAYS FINE TO CONCLUDE CASE INVOLVING VANILLA

Pleading guilty to a technical infraction of the Wisconsin statutes, E. H. Mueller, Milwaukee salesman, paid a fine of $25 in municipal court Thursday afternoon for selling vanilla compound billed as vanilla flavoring. Mr. Mueller had his bottles labeled to show that they contained compound flavoring of vanilla, vanillin and coumarin but his firm inadvertently made out invoices to local merchants using the wording "vanilla flavoring."

Federal pure food laws were complied with by Mr. Mueller, according to statement made by John A. Londorf, district attorney, but the state law technically was violated, as it stipulates that flavoring extract includes flavors, essences and tinctures. The defendant did not desire to become involved in the expense of a test case, therefore asked permission to plead guilty to the technicality. Judge A. M. Spencer assessed the minimum fine.

Complaint was made against Mr. Mueller by state food inspector.

BOYS' CLAIM TO FIRST IN RIVER DENIED BY GIRLS

According to Thursday's Laurentian, college weekly the claim of Harold Zuelke and Carl Thompson, Appleton, as the season's first "icebreakers" is null and void and a week too late, for two are Helena Koletzke, 27, and to mention it, have claimed the title. The girls, also of Appleton, are Helena Koletzke, 27, and Florence Downer, conservatory student, and their claim of April 3 is just seven days earlier than the boys, who "went in" in the canal April 10.

The Laurentian declares: "The boys will have to be content with second honors, for the girls 'beat them to it.'" Helena Koletzke and Florence Downer took a swim in Lake Winnebago on April 2. "I imagine it wouldn't be so bad after we got used to it, but we couldn't stay in long enough to get used to it," said Miss Koletzke. Gladys Jarrett, Chicago, and Helen Norris, also college students, missed the boys' record by one day, taking their icy plunge April 11 just below Kimberly.

And so the claims are made and bettered, and the only way to definitely decide who was "first in" is to ask the fishes.

Foot Is Injured
Minor Owen, 414 E. South River-st., had his foot badly bruised Thursday evening at the Coated Paper Co. when a shaft fell on his instep. The extent of the injury has not yet been determined.

Walter Glaser, Greenville, is remodeling and resinsiding his barn and outbuildings on his farm there. John Bungert of Oshkosh, is visiting his twin brother, Michael Bungert, 543 N. Superior-st. The two men are 58 years old.

Valley Reserves Seeking Charter In State Chapter

Valley Officers Association Has Dinner and First Regular Meeting

With 14 applications for membership approved at the dinner and first regular meeting at Hotel Northern Thursday evening, Fox River Valley chapter of the United States Reserve Officers association voted to apply for a charter in the state department of the organization. This addition to the charter roll made it step possible.

Lieut. Alfred Bradford and Lieut. Stanley Staidl were the speakers at the dinner. The former told of his experiences in an officers' training camp attended recently and the latter of life in an aviation camp of the reserve corps.

Affiliation with the state department will be made at once so members of the valley chapter will be able to attend the annual state roundup of reserve officers at Fond du Lac May 2. Sessions will be held at Retlaw hotel. There will be a meeting of state officers in the afternoon, a program by the American legion fire and drum corps of Fond du Lac at 6 o'clock, reception at 6:30 and dinner at 7 o'clock, followed by dancing. Speakers at the banquet will be Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum of the regular army staff and Brig. Gen. John Porter Delafield, national president of the Reserve Officers association.

Miss Marenka Boettcher, 1010 N. Richmond st., submitted to a tonsillar operation at St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday morning.

VOCAL SOLOIST ON PROGRAM FOR LAST CONCERT IN CHAPEL

Miss Kathleen McKenzie will present a vocal solo at the concert to be given by the 120th Field Artillery band Monday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Other numbers include a symphonic solo by Clarence Meltz and a saxophone quartet under the direction of Orville Thompson. The two outstanding overtures on the program are "Rosamunde" by Weber, and "Pique Dame." This will be the last indoor concert.

Keicher Tells W. C. T. U. About Boy Scout Work

P. O. Keicher of Appleton, executive of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at Neenah library. The women were desirous of learning more intimately of the work the boy scouts movement is doing and invited Mr. Keicher to explain its activities.

The Weather

WISCONSIN
Mostly cloudy tonight and Saturday. Showers probable. Slightly warmer tonight in east portion.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
High pressure over the lake region and eastern states this morning, with moderate temperature. Low pressure is spreading eastward from the Rocky Mountain region, with its center of activity over Texas and Alberta. Light showers have fallen during the past 24 hours over the northern plain states and middle Mississippi valley and cloudiness extends eastward to the upper lake region. Light scattered showers may fall during the next 36 hours as the low pressure spreads its influence eastward. Temperature changes will be small, but will tend upward.

Horse Buyer Is Ordered To Make Good On Bum Note

Jury Deliberates 30 Minutes to Award $400 Judgment to Plantikow

After thirty minutes of deliberation, the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff in the case of William Plantikow vs. Henry Wolk which was tried before Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Thursday afternoon. Plantikow charged Wolk with giving promissory notes of a third party, which he knew to be worthless, in part payment for a team of horses. The notes were for $400 and Plantikow was given a judgment for that sum with interest to date.

The defendant had purchased a team of horses valued at $485 from the plaintiff, according to the complaint. He paid $85 and gave two promissory notes of Martin Diederich, a Brown-co farmer, for the balance, stating that Diederich was "good" for the notes. When they became due neither Wolk nor Diederich could pay them and investigation showed that Diederich had not been able to pay

31 ASSESSORS ATTEND COURTHOUSE MEETING

Thirty-one village, town and city assessors of Outagamie-co, the entire county force, attended the annual county assessors meeting Friday in the circuit court chamber at the courthouse. Leo J. Toonen, county supervisor of assessments was in charge. The morning and part of the afternoon was spent in discussing the valuation of personal property. At 3 o'clock Judge Charles D. Rosa of the state tax commission talked on assessing of incomes and how it works for lower taxes.

LEGION ORGANIZES ITS BOY SCOUTS TONIGHT

The new boy scout troop contemplated by Oney Johnston post of the American legion will hold its first meeting at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the high school. Harry Mory, scoutmaster, will be in charge. Several boys already are enrolled and others who desire to be scouts are invited to be present, especially if they are sons of legion men. The post will sponsor the troop and help promote its work.

for several years, which fact Wolk had known, the complaint charged. Morgan and Johns represented the plaintiff and E. C. Smith appeared for the defendant.

Soloists On Program With College Club

Willard Meyer of Oshkosh is one of the baritone soloists with the Lawrence college glee club which will present its home concert on April 21 in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Mr. Meyer, who is a freshman at Lawrence, is serving his first year as soloist with the men's glee club. He has a baritone voice of wide range and unusual quality and he is gaining a reputation throughout the state for the excellent style in which he sings.

Other stellar attractions with the glee club this year are Marshall Hulbert, baritone soloist, Wendel Albrecht, violinist and LeVahn Maesch, pianist.

The selections to be sung are of unusual high grade this year, one of the most outstanding being the musical setting of James McLeod's poem, "The Sea," by Franz Bornstein. This number was awarded first prize in competition for male chorus number offered by Swift and Company of Chicago in 1923. It is used by all big male choruses in the country.

Begin To Improve German Railroads

Careful Study Is Made of Passenger Comfort, Safety, Speed and Profit

By Associated Press

Berlin—German railroads, now freed of government control and politics, are considering innovations and improvements. Under the general superintendency of Rudolf Oeser, formerly minister of transportation, careful study is being made of the needs and comforts of passengers, the increase of speed, the maintenance of safety, and a proper margin of profit.

The average speed of German trains before the war was 41.5 miles an hour, and Germany always has enjoyed the reputation of having fewer accidents than any other country in the world. In 1924 the speed average was 34.7, but Director Oeser is confident this will be increased in 1925. To this end there will be extensive improvements to tracks. Engines and rolling stock already are satisfactory, the director asserts.

The German railroad system employs about 800,000 men. There are 11,250 railroad stations, 33,000 miles of track, 106 construction shops and 3,237 administration offices.

One of the director's chief tasks is to make the lines profitable enough to take care of their share of the reparations burden, and he is confident this can be done. He has a free hand to run the system on strictly business principles. He has dismissed 300,000 men whom he considered superfluous; railway officials no longer hold their jobs for life. He is catering to the business of the countries surrounding Germany which need the German lines for transshipment purposes.

Would Make Island Harbor Of Refuge

By Associated Press

Richmond, Va. — Assateague, a densely wooded island whose shores are washed by the waves of the open Atlantic, lying just beyond the network of bays and islands forming the isolated counties of eastern Virginia, may soon be to the sailors of the east Atlantic what the Canaries are to those of the west, a haven of refuge.

Coastwise shipping interests, weary of the huge toll of ships, goods and men exacted when the fury of winter storms descends from the north, have enlisted the aid of commercial interests of Virginia, Delaware and New England in their plea for the United States government to establish off Assateague a haven for tempest driven ships.

Steamers towing barges of Virginia coal consigned to New England ports have had to fight terrific seas along that particular portion of the coast, and many cargoes have been lost in the shoals and treacherous waves. In recent years 42 vessels and 22 lives have been lost within a few leagues of where the haven of refuge is planned. Property loss in these wrecks alone has been estimated at above $4,000,000.

KILL TITUS BILL TO BE CONSISTENT

The day before the measure was taken up we prepared an editorial which we did not have time to publish in which we stated the administration was preparing to kill the Titus bill, which called for a sweeping reorganization of boards, bureaus and commissions, with the view to effecting much needed economies in these fields of administrative government. The next day the bill was killed in the senate and upon the demand of the administration.

It was the most unpopular proposal yet placed before the legislature among the political menagerie that camps out in and about the state capital. There is joy in the tents today, for all will continue their bountiful feed, from the elephants down.

The administration's objections to this start toward retrenchment were that the plan to eliminate and consolidate boards and commissions was too hastily made, and that anyhow there was no sense in abolishing jobs for which appropriations had been made. What could be said in answer to such logical and forceful argument? Plainly the public interests require that this army of chair-warmers and inspectors should continue to live off the public purse. Times are none too good and jobs elsewhere are not easily to be found, besides is not the chief end of government in Wisconsin the building up and maintenance of a machine that will be useful at election time and ad interim?

An administration which has just put through a bill to increase taxes is not for economy. It has to be consistent. It must spend all it can lay its hands on and when more is needed, raise taxes. It could never consent to a reversal of this policy, even so far as to let a useless pulp inspector or scaler of tamarack bark go. This is Wisconsin, and Wisconsin is a law unto itself, as federal policies and the affairs of Washington disclose.

But the fact that Wisconsin could get along with hundreds less employees than it has, with no impairment of public service or of public works is of no consequence. The fact that jobs could be lopped off by wholesale in the promotion of efficiency and economy registers no intelligence on the political minds of Madison. Politics is the deluxe occupation of Wisconsin. One of these days our hard-working farmers, wage-earners and consumers generally are going to wake up to the truth and do a little class punishing outside the standard practice.

Senator Titus' bill would have saved Wisconsin many thousands of dollars annually. It put many bureaus in charge of one of the proper state departments, eliminating duplication, waste and inefficiency. It was an eminently sound bill and entirely to the benefit of taxpayers. It would have been the entering wedge toward real economy in our wasteful state government. It is too bad the start has been deferred another two years.

THE GOVERNOR'S SALARY

We think the legislature is to be commended for passing the resolution of Assemblyman H. H. Smith to increase the salary of the governor from $5,000 to $10,000 annually. Before the change can go into effect the resolution must be approved by a second legislature, and the proposal then submitted to a vote of the people.

A salary of $5,000 per annum is much too small for the importance and responsibility of the chief executive office of a state. It will not begin to pay the living expenses of the governor. Neither is it compatible with the dignity of a great commonwealth and its government.

It is true that even a salary of $10,000 per year does not sufficiently remunerate the services of a governor, as salaries are measured in other fields and vocations, but one of the rewards of this service is honor and public distinction. Men are willing to make pecuniary sacrifices to hold offices of great public trust, and are constantly called upon to do so. Their emoluments in the very nature of things cannot be compared to those received by persons engaged in business and the professions, still we should pay our public servants enough to live respectably on, and that is just about what $10,000 per year would do for the governor of Wisconsin.

THE ORACLE SPEAKS

What is this news we hear from Washington, that Governor Blaine is not to be a candidate for United States senator against Mr. Lenroot? This is out-oracleing the wisest of our domestic oracles. It must be so, for it comes from no less authority than R. M. La Follette himself. It may even be news to Governor Blaine, for it certainly is news to the rest of Wisconsin. Mr. Blaine's candidacy for the senate "to beat Lenroot" has been an accepted fact at Madison and throughout the state. No other name has been seriously mentioned. The governor's ambitions in that direction were vouched for by those behind the scenes. What has happened? Can it be that Senator La Follette is tiring of the dual monarchy? Does he think perchance that the one upon whom he draped his mantle with caution and misgiving has rocked the boat a bit too much? Does he smell a mouse in the storm of disapproval with which the Blaine tax policies have been received?

If Mr. Blaine runs for United States senator he can and we think will be beaten. We think Wisconsin is just about far enough gone to scuttle the ship and take to the rafts. If it can suffer any more its capacity for punishment is beyond estimate. Perhaps this is what Mr. La Follette thinks about it when he sizes up the picture. Is this then to be the end of super-progress—back to Boscobel?

COOLIDGE POPULARITY

President Coolidge is popular with the American people for the appropriations he has saved. Each senator or congressman who comes home appeals for popularity for the appropriations he has "got." And each has his reward.

The whole people want economy, and honor the president for securing it to them. Each district or state wants appropriations, and honors the representative who has got them. The less Congress spends, the better we think of it. The more each congressman induces it to spend, the better his constituents like it.

And we expect to get an economical Congress composed of extravagant congressmen! In mathematics, the whole is equal to the sum of all its parts; but not in politics. The president represents the whole people.

Therefore he can lead in the economy which the whole people want. Congress represents the sum of all the parts of the people. Therefore, it tends to the extravagance those parts want.

THE LAWLESS IN LAWS

The young wife who summons her mother to her aid in every crisis or emergency is not without some shadow of warranty. The I certainly sympathize with the young husband who marries the whole family like that. But the husband who makes his wife put up with the criticism of the laws is my notion of the meanest man. Looking at this problem from the back door—the point from which the doctor always views life—I should say that the girl who contemplates marriage with the kind of man that is likely to stand for any such thing in his home, would be wise to keep up her contemplation indefinitely or until the prospective laws are all dead or in jail.

Listen to this plaintive plea from a girl who apparently got into an awful nest of in laws: "Dear Doctor:

Will you kindly express your opinion of the following: "I maintain that clabber, milk, onions, sauer kraut, cheese of all kinds, skins of baked potatoes etc., are all good food. The in laws eye me with scorn and ask why I eat such things as the garbage can. Since it costs nothing, so we could live very cheaply."

"My family as well as myself are lavish in the use of towels, wash cloths and the like, and I also believe that the baby's diapers should not be just dried and used over again without washing. Here the in laws claim I must have a kind of mania for work; they declare that I should restrict each member of my family to one towel and one washcloth a week and wash only that much."

"I have my in laws right when they say that the wearing of rubber soled gym shoes all day on gymnasium day in school will cause sore eyes?"

MRS.—
Of course the in laws are absolutely wrong on all three counts. They are always wrong, of course. But where is little Bunny while all this is going on—the little rabbit who essayed the role of friend husband, the brave youth who promised something about, clinging to his wife and picking everything else to a warmer climate. If need be? Even if a husband hasn't enough tenderness toward his wife to prompt him to protect her from the lawless in laws, he should at least have enough rumption and self respect to resent that sort of interference in his home life.

There is a way to be the best of friends with the in laws—if they are not hopelessly ignorant or narrow—and yet make them understand quite clearly that they're gonna get the gate in a hurry the moment they attempt to overstep the boundary of friendship. Some times the best manner one can administer to a in law who is careless about that is banishment from the household. She'll come back in good time and be a more livable sort when she has had a good think for herself. I say she, she quite as often the lawless in law is a he.

This may seem a little outside of my province, mereth the pastor's line perhaps, but as a matter of fact the behavior of the in laws has an important bearing on the health of a family, and besides, I'm afraid the pastor won't speak out plainly enough.

In the halcyon days when travel was a luxury of the well to do, a lot of young people solved the in law problem by simply moving a few hundred miles away to live. Henry Ford spoiled that, and somebody should now establish a short course in the amenities of propinquity or get out some neat little volumes of hints to the in laws which bride and groom might present to the prospective prospective in laws.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Occupational Poisoning.
My work consists of hardening steel by treating it in a pot of cyanide at a heat of 1500 and quenching it in oil or water. I inhale the fumes of the cyanide both in heating and quenching. Will this harm me? (W. R. W.)

Answer.—I am not sure what you mean by cyanide. If it is cyanogen, inhalation of the fumes is harmful, even fatal in concentration. Small quantities produce nausea, headache, vertigo or dizziness, and if you are albuminuric and serious disturbances of the heart. Wherever such work must be done there should be special ventilation equipment, blowers or exhaust ducts, to carry away the fumes.

U. S. Records
Might Easily
Be Burned Up

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Disposing of the enormous store of official documents of the United States government is becoming each year a greater and greater problem. It is difficult for the layman, unacquainted with Washington, to visualize the tons and tons of paper on which have been printed or written communications to the United States and the further tons representing copies of government replies to these communications.

Many of the documents are well housed and safely cared for; but some of the most important are not. The most conspicuous cases of perilously filed papers are presented by the patent office, the bureau of the census and the bureau of internal revenue.

The patent office houses the official records of the letters patent issued to inventors. While the old building is a splendid one from the architectural point of view, its interior arrangements for the protection of the papers are inadequate. Extra racks have had to be built even in the corridors of the building to make room for the constantly growing tonnage of paper. The visitor to the building is impressed by being almost everywhere surrounded by exposed stacks of paper, flimsy enough to catch fire easily.

The census bureau, which has the population records for many years back is housed in one of the temporary buildings erected during the war. The structure is of light material and since great precautions are taken to prevent fire, it is recognized that a conflagration might occur at any time. There is a positive rule against smoking in the building. The census records could not be duplicated if they were destroyed as the persons from whom the earlier data were collected are dead.

Many divisions of the internal revenue bureau are located in a similar temporary war building, built largely of frame. Here are thousands upon thousands of income tax returns on which the treasury revenue collections are based. Perhaps many of the returns would not be sorry to see the government destroyed, but the loss to the government would be severe. Much evidence in contested tax cases would be lost.

All through the government establishment much the same situation exists. The departments are overburdened by their load of paper. In the cases of the patents, census records and some others, the documents are of enduring importance and never should be parted with, but in addition to these there is a great store of documents which are of ephemeral importance. Tons of this type of paper might well be disposed of but such destruction is a touchy subject.

clientele of the better hotels were Americans; now it is fully 75 per cent and it seems to be increasing.

"In Europe we have had strange ideas about Americans, but I have got completely rid of them on my first visit to America. I suppose somebody starts an idea and then it gets going and before long it is firmly established.

"Americans are infinitely better furnished than even the best European hotels. 7-c rugs are better, the furniture is better; in fact, the appointments in every respect are superior to ours."

"And the cooking?"

"Well, prohibition has a marked effect here," Mr. De Michel replied. "One needs wine with one's dinner. Oysters or lobsters taste much better with a quart of white wine. But that you do not have and so your sauce suffers."

"But, with these exceptions, I should say that the cooking in the best hotels is equal to the cooking in the best hotels abroad. And the service is as good, too."

"Another very distinct impression is the courtesy that I find. We have a myth in Europe that Americans are not courteous. It is not true."

To one who is engaged in the hotel industry abroad your big hotels in this country are a revelation. For the man who wants to stay for a day or two they are very fine indeed. He can get a good room and a good bath, and that is what he wants primarily.

"My criticism of them is that they lack the personal touch that we can give in our smaller hotels abroad. It is not possible with so many patrons to know them. They do not stay long enough to permit the man to be often on a hurried business trip and have not time to bother with that. They leave their rooms early in the morning and do not come back until late at night."

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

THE "FRANKNESS" OF MARK TWAIN

Mark Twain once advised his brother Orion Clemmens to write his autobiography and to put every single thing into it, the bad as well as the good, the discreditable as well as the favorable. If he could succeed in doing this, Mark Twain told him, he was likely to produce a very great book and he would be doing something that had never been done before in the history of the world.

But Orion could not do it. Mark Twain expresses the opinion in that connection that it cannot be done. Later he hit on the notion of doing it himself and he thereby proved conclusively that he himself at least could not do it. He admits again and again in his autobiography that he has not told the unfavorable side of an episode. He was a reasonably honest man and when he came to the sticking point he recognized the fact that his scheme for an autobiography could not be carried out to its logical conclusion. Interesting though it is, it is not "utterly frank," by his own confession.

CAN'T BE ALIVE THEN

In his preface he says he "writes from the grave" because that is the only way in which he can hope to be frank and tell the whole story.

"When a man is writing a book dealing with the privacies of his own life—a book which is to be read while he is still alive—he shrinks from speaking his whole frank mind; all his attempts to do it fail; he recognizes that he is trying to do a thing which is wholly impossible to a human being."

So he hit on the idea of "writing from the grave" waiting with publication until long after he was dead. But he proved that frankness is more a matter of temperament than anything else. The autobiography is extremely interesting and its whole effect is to give a portrait of Mark Twain that is very much worth having.

Being fundamentally a romantic he was forced to obey the law of his nature and frankness is not characteristic of the romantic. The scientific nature is much more likely to be nakedly frank if there is some reason for frankness. The romantic keeps dramatizing himself, making little plays out of everything that happens to him, manipulating the events and as a rule throwing the spotlight on the things that are more or less to his credit while keeping somewhat in the background the opposite kind of happenings.

Mark Twain's autobiography is no less interesting for that reason. Most of the fun in reading it is in trying to guess how a given episode actually took place, trying to figure out to what extent the story has been colored.

He understood himself that he was coloring his material as he went along and he is honest enough to say so. Before he came to the end of his task he learned to understand that the job he had proposed to Orion was an impossible one especially for a person like himself. His frankness in admitting this is in fact the frankest feature of the entire work. He knew at least he was fooling himself, which is more than most autobiographers know.

CHANGE MEMBERSHIP
After trying the registration plan of securing members for a number of months, the women decided to return to the membership plan and will start at once to secure members for next year. It is hoped that the club will have 500 new members by May 1. A check will be made after May 1 and women who have not been approached will be asked to join the club. There was much preliminary discussion before the decision was made.

Hereafter members will be taken into the club in the spring and the annual campaign for funds will be early in the fall.

The women decided to have a rummage sale on Saturday, April 25 in the playhouse. Committee will be appointed by Mrs. Shannon to work out the details.

Preceding the meeting a program was presented under the direction of Mrs. John Engel, Jr. Miss Amy Polley, a student at Lawrence Conservatory of Music sang two numbers. Clarence Wales, winner of the Hyde declamatory contest at Appleton high school, read "The Coward," the selection with which he won the contest.

SOLOISTS WIN APPLAUSE WITH SONG RECITAL

The vocal concert presented by Miss Manette Ellis, contralto, and Miss Lois Werner, soprano, in the playhouse, Thursday evening was well attended by townspeople and students. The singers are from the studio of Winifred Wilson Quinlan. They were assisted by Miss Katherine Kern, pianist, from the studio of Gladys Ives Brainard.

PARTIES

Guy Barlow, 723 E. Eldorado-st., entertained the members of the high school second basketball team and Coach Kevin at a supper Thursday evening. Covers were laid for 11. The team presented Mel Barlow with a gold overspark pencil in appreciation of the work he had done.

Mrs. Curtiss Quinn, 744 W. College-ave., entertained five tables of bridge Thursday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Marx, Mrs. H. Ness and Mrs. H. Hauch.

EXPLODES THEORY THAT ILLNESS IS GOD'S WILL

London — When men die of illness it is "not God's will to take them," according to the Rev. Michael Michael Folton, Anglican bishop of St. Albans.

Addressing the St. Albans Diocesan conference the bishop asked: "If physical disease is God's will to do, why did Christ, who came to die, fight against it and heal the sick? I cannot believe," he said, "that it is right to say, when a human being dies of a physical disorder, that 'it was God's will to take him.' If I said that, I should feel that I had blasphemed."

Bishop Furse added that no medical practitioner would claim to have healed or cured anyone of disease. All that could be claimed was that medicine had helped nature to do her own work of healing.

As a Christian the bishop said he believed that "what the physiologist calls nature's laws are God's laws; that disease and disorder in the physical sphere are as much against God's will as disease or disorder in the moral and spiritual sphere."

PYTHIANS MAKE FINAL PLANS FOR ANNUAL MAY BALL

Final arrangements were made at the meeting of Knights of Pythias Thursday evening in Castle hall, for the May ball to be given May 1. The hall is to be beautifully decorated, with John Hertel, chairman of the committee in charge. The Melorimba orchestra will furnish music. Officers night which was to have been held April 23 has been postponed until May 7. The officers are to be in charge of arrangements, including preparations for the dinner and program. Ranks of knight is to be conferred on a large class of candidates at that time.

LODGE NEWS

Plans were made at the meeting of John F. B. chapter, Order of DeMolay Thursday evening in Masonic temple, for a dinner dance to be given in May. The social committee is to have charge of arrangements with John Catlin and Douglas Hyde, as chairmen. DeMolay degree was conferred on a class of candidates.

Arrangements for a card party to be given May 7, were made at the meeting of Royal Neighbors Thursday evening in Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Pauline Jacobson is chairman of the committee in charge. The regular meeting was followed by a social hour.

About 50 members of Knights of Columbus attended the meeting Thursday evening in Catholic home. First degree was conferred on five candidates.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

At a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints church Thursday afternoon in the church parlors, plans were made for a May party to be given May 1. Mrs. Fred Pope is chairman of arrangements. Plans also were made for a cake sale to be held the early part of May and for a silver tea to be given May 14. Mrs. Charles Young was in charge of the program. The subject for discussion was Work Among the Foreign Born.

More than 200 persons attended the bazaar and plate supper which was given Thursday afternoon and evening by the Women's union of St. John's church. Foodstuffs, hand made articles and rag rugs were sold. Mrs. Adam Limpert was chairman of the committee in charge. The proceeds of the bazaar will go toward the fund for redecorating the church.

Present Flag To K. T. At Meeting Tonight

Appleton commandery, Knights Templar, will be presented with its new flag at the regular meeting Friday evening at Masonic temple. The big banner is the gift of Tripoli temple of the Wisconsin Shrine at Milwaukee. Presentation will be made by George R. Wetzel, ambassador of the potentate of the Shrine to Appleton commandery. Mr. Wetzel received the flag for the commandery at the fortieth anniversary celebration of the Shrine at Milwaukee.

115 Mothers And Girls At Club Dinner

About 115 mothers and daughters celebrated at the first mothers and daughters banquet given by the recreation department of Appleton Woman's club Thursday night in the high school gymnasium. Because comradeship between mothers and daughters and a closer understanding of the recreation department may be fostered by gatherings of this kind, the department hopes to sponsor several summer affairs.

Miss Catherine Nooyen, as president of Sports Council, the representative body of the clubs and classes of the department, was toastmistress. Singing was led by Miss Genevieve Jones of Lawrence college, and a clever stunt, demonstrating how the recreation department develops the individual, was presented by the Clover Leaf troop of Girl Scouts under the direction of Miss Florence Valentine.

Mrs. C. Willard Cross, chairman of the recreation department, told what had been accomplished during the year and presented the aim of the mothers and daughters through the activities. Mrs. Shannon president of Appleton Woman's club, pointed out how mothers and girls may be connected through the club and said that mothers were never too old to enter into activities with their daughters.

Miss Esther Ingenthron, speaking for the girls, gave a toast to mothers, and Mrs. George Gilman responded with a message from the mothers to their daughters.

Mrs. D. O. Kinsman was the chief speaker of the evening, and she urged that comradeship be built up between mother and daughter. She told the mothers that it would be their aim to develop their daughters three-fold, building up a strong body, strong mind and strong spirit. The tables and a room were prettily decorated with daffodils, pussywillows and yellow lanterns.

After the banquet and program the group adjourned to the high school assembly room, where a one-act play, "Thursday Evening," was presented under the direction of Miss Doris Ewell. The cast included Edna Schultz, Robert Currie, Dean Chamberlain and Molly Boehler.

CLUB MEETINGS

The history of the Woman's Christian Temperance union was read at the meeting of the local organization Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. B. Yeyes, 412 N. Durkee-st. Routine business was discussed.

Mrs. Norbert Roemer is chairman of the committee in charge of the rummage sale to be given by St. Elizabeth club April 25 in Catholic home. Furniture, canned goods and old clothing will be on sale. The proceeds will go toward the free bed fund. Others on the committee are: Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, Mrs. Joseph Rossmel, Mrs. Ervin Hoffman, Mrs. Peter Schaefer, Mrs. George Hogreiver, Mrs. George Woelz, Mrs. Thomas Long, Mrs. George Feerenboom, Mrs. Leo Rechner, Mrs. Earl Douglas and Mrs. Earl McGrath.

Plans for a party next week Thursday were made at a meeting of the Columbian club Thursday night in Columbia hall. Dice was played after the business meeting. The prize was won by Miss Kathleen McCabe.

FORESTERS WILL HAVE PARTY ON LODGE BIRTHDAY

Arrangements for the celebration of the forty-second anniversary of the Catholic Order of Foresters and the thirty-fifth anniversary of the Appleton court will be made by committees appointed at a meeting of the local court last Tuesday night. The nature of the celebration and the time it will be held will be decided at a committee meeting.

The order was founded in Chicago on May 24, 1883. Another committee was appointed to arrange a spread at the Catholic home for the Forester bowlers who took part in the Appleton tournament and those who took part in the valley courts tournament.

Order Gasoline
Dealers To Post
Prices On May 4

Motor Fuel Tax Law Requires
Publicity for Prices Charged for Gas

Madison — The Wisconsin gasoline price publicity order, intended to prevent unfair trade discrimination, will become effective May 4. Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, who promulgated the order, has announced. Jobbers, retailers and others selling gasoline will be required to post their prices in a conspicuous place.

Amendments suggested by oil men at the recent hearing were incorporated in the order. Commissioner Nordman stated. "The term gasoline was changed to "motor fuels," and the latter defined as including "gasoline, benzine, naphtha, benzol, and all other volatile and inflammable liquids which ordinarily are used for operating or propelling motor vehicles, except the product commonly known as kerosene."

A clause also was added excluding from the order "occasional accommodation sales by one jobber to another jobber who regularly buys in tank cars lots and has bulk storage facilities."

In addition, the size of the letters in which the notice must be posted was limited to "one quarter of an inch so as to be plainly visible from the pumps from which the customers are served."

The order requires that each jobber, retailer or dealer shall keep a record of prices in effect on all classes of motor vehicle fuel sold by him, and the price changes, in addition to posting the prices in effect. The record is that he shall change this record when to be open for public inspection on request.

"The gasoline jobber or dealer will have to post his prices on May 4 and enter the prices of that date in a book kept for the purpose," Mr. Nordman said. After that he will have to change his postings and make entries in his record only when he changes his prices. If he makes different prices for different grades of fuel, these will have to be shown so that it is clear what price applies to each grade.

540 Automobiles
Owned By State

Highway Commission Drives
Many More Than Half of State Owned Cars

Madison—The state of Wisconsin owns 540 automobiles and automobile trucks, ranging in value from $50 to $4,500 each, a statement prepared by Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman at the request of the legislature shows. Eleven persons are hired to drive cars for the state, including the governor's chauffeur. It was disclosed.

The information was asked in Joint Resolution 25 A, introduced in Assemblyman A. E. Smith, Viroqua, and adopted by both houses of the legislature. State departments using state owned cars, the number used by each, the cost of the cars and the number of drivers paid by the state for such service was asked. Mr. Smith indicated at the time of the resolution's introduction that he sought to learn the extent to which the state had purchased motor vehicles.

The largest uses of state-owned cars is the highway commission, which has 355, a large number of which are trucks. Six drivers are employed to operate state university cars, one to drive the quartermaster general's truck, two for the state fair trucks, under the department of agriculture, and one for the board of health's truck. During the fair six additional drivers are employed by the agricultural department.

Rehabilitation Resort Fills Need Which Government
Cannot Meet

Milwaukee — Following the announcement of the plans of the Wisconsin Department of the American Legion for establishing the proposed letters have been received here by James F. Burns, state service officer of the organization, from government officials active in the treatment of disabled veterans praising the program and offering the cooperation of the United States Veterans' bureau and the National Soldiers' Home at Milwaukee.

R. L. Jarnagin, regional director of the Veterans' Bureau for this section of the country, wrote endorsing the program and setting forth the need of such work among the disabled ex-service men. He declared that the camp would fill a long felt need in the treatment of the war's disabled that the government was unable to supply. Col. Charles M. Earsall, governor of the National Home at Milwaukee, was strong in his praise of the state camp. He declared that he was going to call upon the Legion for aid in placing men now under treatment at the Home in the new camp.

According to an announcement here by state Legion officials, the camp will be a part of Wisconsin's work in the rehabilitation program which is now being carried on by the organization. Plans have been completed to combine the project with the American Legion Endowment Fund of $5,000,000 for child welfare and rehabilitation work. Organization for the drive for Wisconsin's share in the fund is now going on at state headquarters of the Legion here.

Slattery Awarded
Ohio Scholarship

College seniors are busy making plans for future activities. Among those who have received scholarships at universities are Walter Cole, Rhineland, and Ralph Slattery, Appleton. Mr. Slattery's scholarship is at Ohio State university in the department of philosophy and involves no teaching duties. According to Prof. J. H. Farley, the philosophy department of the Ohio school is one of the strongest in the country.

Mr. Cole was awarded a year's scholarship in the department of accounting at the University of Illinois. It is valued $300.

Many seniors have closed contracts to teach. George Skewes, Appleton, and Florence Hector, Duluth, Minn., will teach at Norway, Mich., Miss Hector in the English department and Mr. Skewes in science and debate. Leonard Stoll, 1924 football captain, will have charge of athletics in Sidney, Ohio.

NON-RESIDENTS BOOST FUND TO SAVE HUNTING

Conservation Fund Increased
Over $100,000 by Senate
Measure

Madison — Wisconsin's big conservation program evidenced by bill 377 S, carrying a stipulated appropriation of $245,675 for 1925, plus three-fifths of the revenue derived from non-resident fishing licenses charged for at the new rate of $5 each, or about $132,412 in all, is the major legislation before the state senate this week.

While it carries the same set appropriation as that of the past two years, the bill aims to increase the revenue that will go to the use of the state conservation commission for the portion mentioned of the raised non-resident fishing license fees. An amendment to bill 377 S changes that share of this revenue received going to the state conservation commission from two-fifths as originally intended to three-fifths, or $132,412.

The increased allowance to the commission is made possible through the efforts of Senators Herman Bilgrien, A. E. Garey and Harry Sauthoff. Governor John J. Blaine and Conservation Commissioner Elmer Hall. Senator Bilgrien was responsible for proposing a raise in the non-resident fishing license to $5 and asking that the increase over the $3 figure be allowed the commission for conservation purposes. Senator Sauthoff went Bilgrien one better and amended the bill allowing three-fifths instead of two-fifths. The others agreed to the proposals after numerous conferences.

In addition to these figures, $32,300 is added for property repairs and maintenance, and $32,250 for permanent property and improvements.

GOOD HONEY CROP IS ASSURED THIS YEAR

Wisconsin is assured a good honey crop in 1925.

Both clover and bees have come through the cold months with little winter killing, according to H. F. Wilson, beekeeper at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, Madison.

"The state has more than 125,000 colonies which annually produce around 6,000,000 pounds of honey," Mr. Wilson says. "Farmers are alive to this sideline. Coupled with dairying, poultry, and per kraising, the turnover on the honey crop represents a neat return every year."

"Spring is the zero hour in raising bees. Good beekeepers are now building up their swarms before the flow of honey starts. They promise abundant food stores in the form of comb honey from the previous season and plenty of sweetened water."

Mortgage Holder Buys Land At Sheriff's Sale

Peter Denissen, holder of the mortgage on the farm lands of Frank Miller, George Van Hoof and William Hedsdorf in the town of Oneida, purchased the properties for $5,000, when they were placed on sale at public auction Thursday morning at the office of Sheriff J. C. Schwartz at the courthouse. The sale was the result of a foreclosure action brought by Denissen.

Goitre Becoming Serious Problem In West And North

"Goitre is almost as serious a handicap to the people in some sections of the Northern and Western states as hookworm is to the South," says Surgeon General Cummings of the United States Public Health Service. The problem of goitre, however, is very different from that of hookworm. Hookworm is a well known parasite that can be prevented by a proper disposal of the body wastes. Where this is not done, as in rural districts, the wearing of shoes will help in avoiding the infection as the disease is very commonly contracted by children who are allowed to go barefooted on polluted soil. Goitre, on the other hand, is apparently due to a deficiency of iodine in food and water, especially in the latter; at least, this seems to be a very important factor in the production of this disease.

In general speaking, goitre exists in two forms, the simple, or non-toxic, and the toxic, the latter being often associated with the condition known as exophthalmos (a prominence or "bulging" of the eyes). The existence of goitre has been known for many centuries. Caesar speaks of large necks (enlarged thyroid glands) as one of the characteristics of the Gauls. The Chinese used burnt sponges and the ashes of the sea weed for goitre centuries ago; and this was probably not so far wrong in this as both substances contain iodine.

During recent years, there have been marked advances made in the study and prevention of goitre. Among those who have contributed very largely to our knowledge of goitre may be mentioned Doctor O. P. Kimball of Cleveland, Ohio, who made extensive experiments apparently with excellent results in the prevention of goitre in the schools of Akron. These experiments were repeated by Doctor Klingner of Zurich in Switzerland, where in some schools it is said one hundred per cent of the children were goitrous. Doctor Jesse F. McClendon, Professor of Physiological Chemistry, University of Minnesota, apparently has demonstrated where the iodine content of the drinking water is low, the goitre rate is correspondingly high, and vice versa.

In a recent survey made by the State Board of Health of Utah, the following interesting observations were made: The water consumed in Provo, Alpine, and Santaquin comes from mountain springs and contains from 18 to 61 parts of iodine per one hundred billion parts of water. The goitre incidence of school children in these three towns is from 46 to 57 per cent. The town of Lakeview obtains water from artesian wells and Gaeshen from an open water shed; the iodine content of these waters is 216 and 250 parts per one hundred billion parts of water; and the goitre incidence of these towns is only 17 and 15 per cent, respectively. The iodine determination was made by Doctor J. F. McClendon. Up to February 1, 1925, the number of children examined in Utah were 98,488, 42.7 per cent of whom had some degree of thyroid enlargement (goitre).

For some time the Public Health Service, in cooperation with the state and local health authorities, has conducted goitre surveys in certain districts where the disease is unusually prevalent. As other examples of the high rate prevailing in some parts of our country, it may be stated that out of 47,498 school children examined in the elementary schools of Cincinnati, 83.2 per cent were found to have appreciable thyroid enlargement. In many of these children, the enlargement was quite pronounced. Girls were found to be more generally infected than boys, the survey showing that 89.8 per cent of the former were affected as against 26.6 per cent of the latter. Colored children showed slightly higher percentages than white children. Similar surveys among groups of children in Minnesota showed even higher rates. It is believed that when these studies are completed a great deal of valuable information will be available, which will aid in the prevention of this disease.

BOARD TO ELECT NEW CHAIRMAN AT SPRING MEETING

A new chairman for the Outagamie county board of supervisors will be elected at the meeting of the board at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse. Other important matters include appointment of new committees engaging a janitor for the courthouse. Notices of the meeting were sent out by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, on Thursday.

The Public Health Service has issued a number of publications on goitre among them the following: The Prevention of Simple Goitre, by O. P. Kimball, M. D., Reprint No. 832.

Methods of Administering Iodine for Prophylaxis of Endemic Goitre, by Surgeon Robert Oleson, Reprint No. 833. These bulletins will be sent to any one upon request. Address the Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

White Wants Referendum On 2.75 Beer

Madison—The question whether the state of Wisconsin, through its legislature, should memorialize congress to modify the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content beer, should be decided by the people, in the opinion of Senator Merritt White, a Winneconne, who has introduced a substitute in the senate to the resolution of the senate committee on state and local government for such memorialization.

The original resolution, pending in the senate, provided for a direct request from the legislature to congress.

By the terms of Senator White's substitute, the question would be put to a vote of the people at the next general election in the following form:

"Shall the legislature of the state of Wisconsin at the 1927 session petition the Congress of the United States to amend the Volstead act so as to authorize the manufacture and sale of beer for beverage purpose of an alcoholic percentage of 2.75 by weight or such other percentage as

ENVELOPE SALES BOOSTS MARCH POSTAL RECEIPTS

Postal receipts in March were $1,022,12 greater than the same month last year, while the receipts for the first quarter of 1925 still are behind those for January, February, and March of 1924, according to H. J. Franck, assistant postmaster.

The increase during March, Mr. Franck stated, was due to unusually large sales of special request envelopes to business firms. Mr. Franck said that March sales of these envelopes had been the greatest in the history of the Appleton post office.

may be lawful under the provisions of the 18th amendment, under government supervision."

Senator Ben Gettelman, one of the principal supporters of the pending resolution, announced himself in accord with the substitute and declared it would have his support.

How It Burns Tells the Story

LA FLORA de Cabbageo may get by on a price argument and the glitter of its band—but when the soggy, ill-burning stump is measured up there has been neither satisfaction nor economy in the "two-fer" bargain.

Poor motor fuel, cheapened by the admixture of heavy kerosenish elements, burns as differently from genuine, straight-run, real gasoline as factory sweepings do from sea-cured Havana. This cheapened gas requires forced, air-shy vaporization. It sparks tardily, fires in a broken, gappy gallop, leaves an ash of gritty carbon and a kerosenish flux that drips disastrously into your engine's oil supply. By smell and residue alike its shortcomings are revealed as certainly as the ash and aroma tell the story of cigar quality—or lack of it.

"Wadhams 370" True Gasoline is a genuine explosive gas, eagerly expanding from liquid form to full vapor. It ignites instantly, carries the flame with bursting suddenness to every part of the charge and consumes completely without residue of kerosene and free carbon. It is the gasoline of quick starting, full power, and greatest final economy.

WANTS CAPITAL TRAFFIC TO BE MODEL FOR U. S.

New Safety Director Determined to Enforce Safe Traffic Regulation

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington—Washington's new traffic director, M. O. Eldridge, aims to make the capital a model for the whole country in the matter of automobile regulation.

His theory is that drunken drivers, fleeing bootleggers and miscellaneous miscreants are responsible for most accidents. It's in whizzing around corners that they generally get in their work, he says. Also he thinks there has been too strong a tendency on the authorities' part to subordinate pedestrians' safety to motorists' convenience. Eldridge is going to fix all this. And no more spooning at the wheel of a car, he adds. "Nobody," he insists, "can drive judiciously with his arm around a girl's waist."

Finally, Eldridge concludes, traffic regulations, no matter how good, are no good at all unless rigidly enforced, and right there, he observes, is where a majority of cities fall down. He won't.

The Justice Department gets very few appeals to be sent to the Atlanta penitentiary for 25 years. That, however, is just what Gerald Chapman wants, and in his case it's easy to understand why. He insists that the federal government only loaned him to Connecticut to try him for murder, and he thinks a borrowed article should be returned in as good condition as it was borrowed in. Besides, if he's hanged, how can he serve out his long Atlanta sentence for robbing the mails?

The Justice Department hasn't made up its mind.

The fact is, the attorney general isn't as much interested in Chapman's technicality as Chapman is. The government has more prisoners than it wants now. At this very time Luther C. White, new superintendent of federal prisons, is at Leavenworth, trying to find an excuse for paroling all the convicts he can. Leavenworth has more than twice as many inmates as it was built to hold. Atlanta isn't quite that bad, but bad enough. So much accommodation wasn't needed in the old days. Prohibition law violations hadn't been invented then.

Smallpox is more prevalent than the government Public Health Service likes. Not only are there too many cases but they are increasingly malignant.

The idea is that people develop considerable power of resisting a disease they have had among them for several generations, and either don't catch it or have it lightly if they do. Thus the disease finally runs itself out. Only it isn't dead, just dormant. Reawakened, it usually finds a generation which has lost the old immunity, and begins again as a much worse disease than it left off.

Just so with smallpox. It partly ran itself out and was partly stamped out by vaccination. Now that it appears to be reasserting itself, it may prove to be deadlier than ever, though fortunately under better control.

Keep vaccinated, is the Public Health Service's advice.

The State Department is hearing from many American residents of France who are scared at the prospect of a capitol levy. Some of them have large French property holdings, especially the branches of various big American companies.

A capitol levy, if made, will hit the small. They can't get their wealth out of the country, either through the sale of property or the Present French Law forbids the government proposes to take a large chunk—10 per cent, and it will be more than that if the franc slumps, as probably it will.

If France were a little country, like one of the Central American republics, the State Department might see its way clear to opposing this confiscation. Being France, it isn't likely to do so.

Hint Another Poisoning For McClintock Millions

By Associated Press
Oceanside, Calif.—Out of court files covered with the dust of three decades has come an astonishing development in the investigation of the death of William McClintock, Chicago's "millionaire orphan."

It is charged that McClintock's father obtained his wife's fortune under circumstances which resulted in the same charges being brought against him as are now leveled at William D. Shepherd.

Shepherd is accused of having killed young McClintock by inoculating him with germs in order to gain the fortune. McClintock Sr. is charged, secured control of her fortune by poisoning his wife, Mrs. Sarah A. Hickling McClintock.

A suit filed in Chicago in 1899 first revealed the charges and now the suit may be reopened in an effort to keep Shepherd, though he be cleared of the murder charge, from gaining the fortune.

The suit is being pressed by Lyman G. Caswell, son of William Caswell, who was a brother of Mrs. Sarah A. Hickling McClintock.

CASWELL'S CLAIMS
Here are the claims being made by Caswell, a carpenter of this place, through his attorney, Lewis Peterson. Mrs. Hickling was the second wife of William Hickling, an early holder of the fortune. Hickling died in 1881, when struck by a train. Before her marriage, Mrs. Hickling was a seamstress, Sarah Caswell.

After Hickling's death his widow married McClintock Sr., who had been acting as Hickling's secretary. Although a son was born, William McClintock, it is claimed by the elder Caswell that he was often assured by his sister that upon her death he would come into the estate.

After an absence of some years from Chicago, William Caswell went to visit his sister to find that she had been dead for some years. The fortune had passed into the hands of McClintock.

SISTER POISONED, RUMORED
Caswell took cognizance of the whispered rumors that his sister had been poisoned. He hired attorneys who interviewed the doctor who had attended Mrs. McClintock.

The doctor insisted he could say nothing until he had been sworn on the witness stand. This doctor, who is said to be living and in touch with the Caswell heirs, is still ready to testify.

When Mrs. McClintock was on her deathbed a pen was placed in her hand and she made a cross at the bottom of a will, with McClintock as beneficiary of her estate.

This will, according to the Caswells, was forged to take the place of the will in which Mrs. McClintock had willed her fortune to her brother.

ORIGINAL WILL EXISTS
Peterson declares this original will was not destroyed but that it will be brought into court.

The records also show, according to Caswell's attorneys, that the doctor who attended Mrs. McClintock was called to her bedside fifty times in one month.

"It seems to me that everyone who has had anything to do with this money has suffered in some way," Caswell says.

"I leave the case with the Lord. I am in the conviction that he has already started to work out his plan by punishing those who have assisted in denying the money to the rightful heirs."

"This plague will pursue them if they are allowed to keep the money. Even if I should not come into possession of that money, I shiver to think of what would have become of Shepherd were he allowed to remain as executor of the estate of young Billy."

After All The Range Is The Oven

No one would think of buying a two cylinder automobile when they could buy a four cylinder car better made—more power—and with added conveniences for the same price. This is equally true of gas ranges, isn't it?

THE REASON THAT THERE IS ONLY ONE GAS RANGE ON THE MARKET WITH THE FOUR-WAY CIRCULATING OVEN IS BECAUSE THAT METHOD OF HEATING THE OVEN MORE QUICKLY, EVENLY, WITH LESS GAS IS PATENTED.

There is no need of placing the baking on a higher rack to bake in this range. Don't you owe it to yourself to enjoy now these conveniences as well as proved economy? That's why our stores are featuring the newest, finest range made by makers of Good Goods Only for more than a half century. There are two and a quarter million Round Oaks in use.

Celebrate Jubilee Of Fondy Diocese

Episcopalians of Valley Begin
Preparations for Celebration

Fond du Lac—Leaders of national and international importance will address religious meetings to be held in various parts of Wisconsin, particularly in the Fox river valley, during the summer.

Foremost among these is the celebration of the golden jubilee of the Episcopal diocese of Fond du Lac on June 8 and 9. Papers on the founding of the diocese are to be read. Similar programs will be held in Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Oneida, Sheboygan, Sheboygan Falls and Plymouth.

DIOCESE FIFTY YEARS OLD
The diocese of Fond du Lac was founded fifty years ago by a small band of priests and laymen. St. Paul's church in this city became the cathedral church of the diocese. The church has grown from eighteen priests to forty-five and from 1,341 communicants to 6,000.

St. Paul's cathedral is the oldest in America. Chicago erected a cathedral about the same time but the Chicago cathedral burned several years ago.

Following the precedent of Fond du Lac, a number of other relatively small cathedrals have been built, notably those of Cleveland, Detroit and Denver.

OTHER CHURCHES TO CONVEY
After the observance of the diocese jubilee, delegates from the young peoples' societies of the Wisconsin district of the Evangelical synod of North America will meet here, June 14 and 15. Speakers will include Dr. E. J. Volmer, St. Louis, Mo.; the Rev. L. Streich, D. D., St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. R. Niebuhr, Elmhurst, Ill.

A Sunday school institute may be conducted in this city on May 17 by the members of the Federation of Wartburg Leagues of Eastern Wisconsin.

The annual South Byron camp meetings, which attract religious leaders from all parts of the world, the Green Lake lake institute, the Lutheran Jaegerbund and many other religious conventions will meet in this section during June, July and August.

Art Absent In U. S. Films, Says Alien

Berlin—Dr. Fritz Lang, German film manager who recently returned from a study of the film industry in the United States, delivered a lecture in which he said American film directors are too commercial and much less devoted to art than German directors. Of all the American directors he said he found that Griffith alone has ideals.

Dr. Lang also said that in his opinion Germany has better actors than the United States, but the United States has a much greater variety of actors, is able to produce an actor for every part who merely plays himself, and has actors who keep constantly in training and keep their bodies active and fresh through sports. The failure of German actors to keep in good physical trim is a great handicap, in Dr. Lang's opinion.

The great power of life in the United States, the immense vitality of all classes of persons, and the disinclination of even the poorest beggar to admit that he is not well made a great impression on Dr. Lang. He says an American always says he is extraordinarily well, while an inquiry about a German's health brings the answer as a rule that he is wretched.

INDUSTRIOUS HEN LAYS DOUBLE EGGS

A hen belonging to Mrs. J. C. Waters in the Town of Center is setting a good example for all her sisters through her great industry. Several days before Easter Sunday this conscientious bird started laying double eggs and since then has been keeping up the good work. Her record egg has a circumference of 6½ inches and 8 inches.

State Department Saves Old Relics

Washington—The state department has rescued from its temporary wartime quarters in a sub-basement a collection of rare gifts from the East, presented to the American government as good-will offerings.

Swords from Japan and Siam, a stone from the Great Wall of China, relics from Korea, and rare embroideries are in the collection. Miscellaneous documentary material and objects of art, now in the keeping of the state department, would, in the opinion of officials, be valued in the millions of dollars if offered for sale.

The swords from Japan seem to have been brought here by the first mission from Japan in 1860, when ratifications of the treaty of 1858 were exchanged. These gifts corresponded, it is believed, with those that Commodore Perry took with him to Japan. When the treaty with Korea was ratified here, the members of the mission took that country brought presents with them. The Japanese mission of 1872 likewise brought gifts.

Congress may be asked to make provision by appropriation for the proper care of these articles.

Several British motor car manufacturers have reduced the prices of their cars. Great Britain now has 414,621 cars, an increase of 91,728 over the previous year.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating, so called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any drug store a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quart glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloating right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphate of Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Same Management For Dodge Bros.

Haynes Is Continued as Head of Great Automobile Making Organization

Dodge Brothers, Inc., organized under the laws of Maryland with $160,000,000 capital is in process of acquiring the business and substantially all of the assets of the Michigan concern of like name which John F. and Homer T. Dodge founded. Ownership of the new corporation will be very largely by the public, which will be represented on the board of 11 or 15 directors by men of local prominence from different sections of the country. Its management, under Frederick J. Haynes, who has been elected president of the new company as well as the old, will be the same that has conducted the great enterprise so successfully since the founders, five years ago. It is composed entirely of men whom they had selected and trained.

In addition to the election of Haynes as president Arthur T. Waterfall has been elected vice-president in charge of transportation, and John A. Nichols, Jr., vice-president in charge of sales. Waterfall was taken over from the Detroit Board of Commerce by the Dodge brothers in 1916 as traffic director, and has since proved himself a highly capable and efficient worker, attaining a vice-presidency in 1921. Nichols, who is known to be closely identified with Haynes, worked up from a district sales manager in the northwest back in 1915, occupying various posts in the interval, and becoming general sales manager in 1922. His record of accomplishment during one of the company's darkest periods has earned him a title commensurate with his real function in the business.

Several British motor car manufacturers have reduced the prices of their cars. Great Britain now has 414,621 cars, an increase of 91,728 over the previous year.

REO DELIVERIES SMASH RECORDS

Business in March Exceeds That of Any Other Month in 21 Years

Reo deliveries for the month of March just closed were the greatest in the twenty-one year history of the Reo Motor Car Company, according to an announcement made by officials. The best previous month experienced by the veteran manufacturing company was May, 1923.

The largest March in Reo history prior to March, 1925, also occurred in 1923. However, this year's March deliveries were more than 14 percent higher than those of the best previous March, the shipment figures show.

Passenger car, Speed Wagon, and bus business all hold to the record-breaking pace set by Reo during the month. No one type of units carried a major share of the increase, and domestic and foreign shipments also increased in proportion to their relative year-around values.

Reo's production schedule has been extended slightly to make this record-breaking business possible, but there is indication that plans may have to be revised again to prevent a shortage among Reo dealers, practically all of whom are working with exceptionally low stocks. Reo shops are working six days a week, with overtime the rule rather than the exception.

That the stride now being hit by Reo will be held for some months to come is the opinion of company officials. While March should see the spring business well under way, it should not include the crest of the rise attributable to regular spring buying.

For this reason and because of the orders already held, some marked for April and May delivery and some that could not be filled in March, Reo is assured of an exceptionally big season.

Moon Production Sets New Record

St. Louis—The March production schedule of the Moon Motor Car Company is the heaviest in its eighteen years' history, according to Stewart McDonald, president. The company is producing at the rate of fifteen hundred per month and its production schedule for the first six months calls for eight thousand cars—a gain of about 62 per cent in production over the same period of the previous year.

About 75 per cent of Moon production at the present time is on enclosed models; principally two door and four door sedans of five passenger capacity.

Italy's receipts are now in excess of her expenditures, the January surplus being 15,000,000 lire, as compared with a deficit of 28,000,000 for January, 1924.

ENGINEERS PICK BEST MATERIALS FOR MILLER TIRE

Chemical Reactions Require Close Attention in Compounding Rooms

When the tire maker and the break maker go about the selection of the ingredients they use about the same methods. They get the best products possible and then mix about the same methods. They get the best products possible and then mix them according to receipt, being careful that the formulae of the chief chemist and the receipts of the head baker are observed to the letter.

Miller engineers are meticulously careful that all of the elements which go into rubber compound are painstakingly sifted so that none of the many impurities which might get into the finished products are in any one of the component parts. The tire maker sifts his ingredients carefully as does the master baker his flour.

Certain of the elements which go into the making of the rubber compound will unite with the other ingredients only after certain chemical action has taken place. This requires the attention to each of the steps necessary in the compounding room. There can not be too much heat applied to some of the ingredients and some of the ingredients can not be united with others until there has been a compounding of certain others before. This necessitates the strictest rules and the formulae of the chief chemist.

No guess work on the part of the best bakers is permitted and neither is there any guessing about the compounding of the rubber in the making of the tire. The standard of quality and the reputation of the product is at stake. Each process from beginning to end must be the same. This makes for uniformity and were there the slightest deviation from the rules and the formulae of the chief chemist the product would not be uniform.

This uniformity throughout the making of bread and the making of tires proceeds from the start to finish. In the construction of tires however there are many more processes for the product to go through before it is completed and what is true of the compounding of the rubber is true of the fabrication of the cotton which makes the strong carcass of the tire.

Augers Doom Of American Game Birds

Wild Duck and Geese May Be Extinct in Ten Years, if Slaughter Continues

By Associated Press
New York—The migratory game birds of North America are threatened with practical extinction, in the opinion of Dr. W. T. Hornaday, noted naturalist and defender of wild birds and animals. Ducks and geese may come to the vanishing point in ten years if the present rate of slaughter continues. "The doom of our non-migratory birds as well is sounded unless bag limits are immediately reduced," Dr. Hornaday declares.

"An army of 5,000,000 hunters equipped with the most modern devices of slaughter has reduced to a certainty the practical extermination of the game birds if the present unparalleled rate of destruction continues," the speaker said. "There has never before been anything equalling the present pursuit of bird life in American history. Not even the destruction of the buffalo was more persistent or widespread."

"It is generally admitted that the automobile has doubled the perils of the game, because it has placed every stretch of water where ducks may be reported, and every hunting ground within the reach of hunters living within a radius of 200 miles or more."

"Under the ruling of the department of agriculture the bag limit that may be shot by a single hunter in one day is 25 ducks and eight geese, except the wood duck and olive duck, and eight geese and eight brandt. The season lasts for three months or more. These limits are most wasteful. No man or ordinary sized family can eat 25 ducks in one day, nor more than one-fifth of that number, and since their sale is forbidden in most states, indications are that a large percentage of a full bag must be given away or become a loss by default."

"The lawful limit of 25 ducks a day now prevails in 25 states, fatally injuring all the states where the ducks find winter feed and where they congregate in greatest numbers in winter. Although no hunter gets his limit every day, and in many states where ducks were once plentiful he will not be fortunate if he kills one duck, yet in those diminishing areas where ducks seek winter protection and food, he often gets the limit by the time most of us are breakfasting."

"Without further legal restrictions, in ten years our migratory game birds will have become so shot to pieces and weakened as to be reduced to the vanishing point."

MOON ADDS TWO DELUXE MODELS

Beautiful Sedans With New Body Lines Add Lustre to Moon Products

Two new models of enclosed cars, considered among the most beautiful and best appointed enclosed cars introduced this season, are now in production at the Moon factories in St. Louis and are being displayed by Moon dealers. Both are five passenger cars—one a two-door sedan and the other a four-door sedan—finished in attractive new color combinations—the two door sedan in marine blue and gray, and the four door sedan in two tone green and upholstered luxuriously and with good taste. Numerous refinements that add to the comfort and convenience of the passengers and to the greater ease of handling of the car are features of the new Moon enclosed cars.

The body lines of both DeLuxe sedans are entirely new, with even greater style than that of previous models, and having a broad belt which adds to the beauty and imparts to the cars that much desired low, long appearance.

The standard upholstery for both the two door and four door DeLuxe sedans is gray mohair, the interior hardware being of the latest design, Butler finish.

Among the many new features of the new DeLuxe Sedans are the following: sun visor built integral with top; new design instrument board with all instruments including automatic gasoline gauge, grouped in a single glass covered oval panel; a new, patented type of gas and spark control at the head of the steering wheel; equipped with a lever which controls all exterior lights of the car; arm rests on the rear seats of the four door sedan.

New Oldsmobile Fills Big Demand

A coach DeLuxe has just been announced by Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Mich., manufacturers of the Oldsmobile Six. It is being produced to fill a demand for a fully equipped car of this popular model.

"The demand we have had for a DeLuxe coach indicates that the full popularity of the 'coach' type of car is not price alone," said Guy H. Peasley, general sales manager of the Olds Motor Works. "Reports from the field show that a considerable number of purchasers prefer the coach style, regardless of any price differential, as they claim it combines the intimate snugness of the four passenger coupe with the roomy comfort of a sedan."

"The Oldsmobile DeLuxe coach is equipped at the factory with front bumpers, rear fender guards, trunk and trunk rails, motorometer, rear view mirror, automatic windshield cleaner and step plates, in addition to the regular equipment included in all the Oldsmobile body types. The list price is $1150.00, f. o. b. Lansing."

PHONES HOTTEST AT DAY'S CLOSE

Thousands of Business Men at 5 O'clock Call Their Wives They Can't Come Home

Los Angeles—Daily conferences held after business hours in Los Angeles mount up into the thousands, according to N. R. Powley and G. De Nevers, southern California telephone officials, who say that around 5 o'clock every evening several thousand business men call up to inform their wives that they can't get home to dinner, usually because of a "conference."

"During the brief period between 4:45 and 5:10 p. m., the telephone girls handle more calls a minute than at any other time during the day," said Mr. Powley. "The bulk of them are men calling up their wives about not being able to get home to dinner."

Various other factors that make the traffic in telephone calls jump and make switchboards to light up like the Christmas tree, said De Nevers, are fires, explosions and radio announcers requesting listeners to "call up and let us know how you hear us." If a day opens with clear weather and rain comes up later the number of phone calls increases unbelievably, the officials said. Everybody seems to be calling up to cancel engagements or to rent taxicabs.

Checking over the 1,750,000 calls a day, the telephone operators say that the popular notion is correct, men can not compete with women in long conversations.

Storage Battery Is Heart Of Car's Electric System

Good Automobile Battery Must Have Low Internal Resistance

From the beginning of electric starting and lighting of automobiles, the storage battery has been and continues to be the most important part in the entire system. In recent years, this importance has been still further increased by the growing tendency to depend altogether on the battery for ignition. This was a perfectly natural development, for in order to have the car lighted when the engine was not running, one must have a battery. This, in turn, necessitates a generator connected with the engine, so that one can use engine power when running to keep the battery fully charged and be compelled to have it recharged frequently from some outside source at expense to the owner.

A good automobile battery must be one with low internal resistance. It must not take a charge too rapidly and yet must give an immense output on sudden demand. Great attention had to be paid to the mechanical manufacture of the plates from carefully selected lead compounds pasted upon a lead frame work, called a "grid," to the balancing of all elements in each cell. In other words, not only the battery as a whole, but many individual parts of the battery had to be a compromise between the advantages of size, long life, cost, etc., and the problem was to find just the right compromise.

Perhaps the greatest improvement made in the internal structure of the automobile starting and lighting battery is the development of the well known Wheland Rubber Insulation used in Wheland batteries. This is made by piercing the rubber cross ways, that is, from surface to surface, with nearly 200,000 little threads. This combination makes it possible to use the strongest and most durable insulating material known, because it permits the chemical action of the battery to go on through the threads by capillary attraction, and yet does not allow the active material of the plates to come in contact—which ultimately results if the rubber is pierced with holes and is not protected by additional insulation of some other kind.

The tendency among motor truck users to utilize trucks of one-ton capacity and to adopt hauling services to the proven economy of these smaller transportation units, continues to be the outstanding feature of the motor truck business.

Nothing quite so aptly illustrated this as production figures of the Ford Motor Company which show that the company has produced more than a million Ford trucks. Sales of Ford trucks during the last year exceeded any previous year in the history of the company, further emphasizing the strong and increasing trend toward the ton truck.

Business men in the market for trucks today may profit by the experience of others. Many who have experimented with both large and small trucks found that the small, one-ton unit, carrying an average load over a greater distance of the delivery route, was the most satisfactory and economical.

The business man of today, when he contemplates motorization of his delivery system has at his disposal information giving him every detail of cost and performance pertaining directly to the requirements of his particular line of trade.

There are several reasons, of course, why the great majority of truck users are adopting the Ford one-ton-truck. There is the low initial investment, the simplicity of operation, which assists in effecting efficiency in drivers, the low upkeep and the absolute dependability of the Ford. Another important feature, and one to be considered at all times, is the matter of service. In this respect Ford facilities are so well known it is unnecessary to comment on them.

Production Figures of Ford Motor Co. Illustrates Popularity

The tendency among motor truck users to utilize trucks of one-ton capacity and to adopt hauling services to the proven economy of these smaller transportation units, continues to be the outstanding feature of the motor truck business.

CHIEF OF GENERAL MOTORS SEES RISE IN PRICE OF CARS

Relative Prices of Today and Six Years Ago Indicate Increase

"It is my opinion that such announcements as the automotive industry has been accustomed to make during the summer will this year indicate a higher trend of prices," says Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president, General Motors Corporation.

"The question can best be understood by an analysis of what has taken place so far in the industry. Compare the price that is paid for a motor car today with that paid for the nearest comparable car six or seven years ago. In the case of a motor car a smaller number of actual dollars will purchase an immeasurably better article judged by any standard that may be set."

"The reason for this is that motor car manufacturers have reduced the price of cars in line with and frequently in advance of reduced costs made possible by better engineering and improved manufacturing methods. This has accelerated the natural increase in volume which in turn has made still lower costs and subsequent turn-over has been still lower selling prices. The manufacturer has been satisfied to take a lower profit per car which has been compensated for in some degree through increased turnover which in turn tends to equalize the return on capital employed."

"While additional economies will always be possible, there are compensating factors which must be given consideration, especially the increased cost of distribution, adjustment, therefore, must be reached sooner or later. This will come about when the curve of expansion flattens out."

"It is improbable that the consumption of motor cars this year will be any greater than last year. I believe that prices made last year discounted to some extent what was believed to be a still expanding volume. This is evidenced by the fact that several manufacturers have already advanced prices during the past few months. I believe the pendulum has swung too far and a reaction is certain to come until the situation is equalized."

GOODBY DINNER
FOR MECHANICFrank Slater Will Be Honored on His Retirement from Railroad Service

Kaukauna—Frank Slater, division master mechanic at the Kaukauna shops of the Chicago Northwestern Railway system will be guest of honor at a banquet at 5:30 Saturday evening in Elk hall. Mr. Slater will resign from active service on full pension on May 1 after having reached 70 years of age and having served the railroad company for 57 years.

The banquet is being engineered by members of the motive power department in the local shops. Approximately 300 people will be present, including a large number of former associates at Antigo and a dozen or more high officials from the Chicago office.

A definite program of toasts, speeches and music is being prepared. S. N. Engdahl is in charge of arrangements and will act as toastmaster at the meeting.

Mr. Slater has been master mechanic in the Kaukauna shops since Oct. 12, 1912. He came here as general foreman when the shops were moved from Manitowish in 1884. Eleven years later he was transferred to the Chicago shops in the same capacity.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The Odd Fellow lodge held its regular meeting Thursday evening in Odd Fellow hall. Work in the second degree was exemplified for a class of 14 candidates. Routine business was transacted.

The Five Hundred club was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred C. Smith in Sherwood. A 6:00 o'clock dinner was followed by a social evening. Prizes at five hundred were won by Miss Viola Wolf and Adala Thelen. About 20 Kaukauna people were present.

The monthly meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America was held Wednesday evening in Odd Fellow hall. Routine business was disposed of.

The regular meeting of Electric City chapter, Order of DeMolay, was held Thursday evening in Masonic hall. A delegation of Neenah DeMolays attended the meeting and invited the local chapter to put on the initiatory degree at Neenah next week. The invitation was accepted.

An open card party followed a short meeting of the Women of Mooseheart Legion Thursday evening in north side Forester hall. Ten tables were in play. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Charles Lowery and Charles Powell; Mrs. Roy Under and Charles Lowery. Consolation awards were taken by Mrs. John Conlon and Roy Hunt. Mrs. Harvey won the prize at hearts.

22 ROTARIANS ATTEND

WAUPACA READY TO ACQUIRE SITE
FOR STARCH MILL

Chicago Concern Is Expected to Fulfill Requirements of City Agreement

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Waupaca city is still holding an option on property along the Soo line tracks in the Third ward for the proposed starch and glue factory to be erected by the Block Laboratories of Chicago under the direction of William Boehm, formerly a local resident. As the proposition now stands, the city has fulfilled all requirements asked by the promoters and can acquire the property when required by the official action of the Chicago people.

A much needed outlet for the poorer grades of potatoes grown in this vicinity is a well established fact. During times the market conditions were unfavorable. Some years ago two starch factories operated in the city but were finally destroyed by fire. During some seasons these factories consumed nearly the entire output by the growers around Waupaca.

On Thursday evening, April 23, the local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the order in America. Dancing, card playing and a program will be given. All members are invited to bring their families and friends.

The quarterly district meeting of Odd Fellows will be held at the local lodge on Wednesday evening, May 6. At that time a representative of the grand lodge of Wisconsin will be present to deliver an address, very likely the grand master. Other lodges comprising this district are Iola, Manawa, Oudenburg, Amherst and Weyauwega.

Sheriff William Toepeke and Under-sheriff Halbert Swensen attended the sheriff's convention at Madison Wednesday and Thursday.

Bethany Ladies Aid society of Our Savior church met with Mrs. P. C. Weld, 203 N. Franklin-st., Thursday afternoon.

Gridiron TrialsSixty-five Boys at Conference to Discuss Athletic Activities

New London—Sixty-five boys attended a meeting in the local high school on Thursday afternoon in answer to a call for those desiring to take part in athletics in the school next year.

The prospect of having spring athletics, baseball and track, with interclass competition, was advanced, but was overruled when it was decided to have spring football instead. This will give all prospects a month's practice.

Spring football is a new feature in athletics at the school, and is expected to be of great benefit in building up a strong team for next fall. Practice will begin next Tuesday, April 21.

Coach Koten, who will return next year will resume his duties as coach. He will be assisted by C. T. Polom's, this year's basketball coach. At a conference of the two coaches and Supt. R. J. McMahon, the following rules were adopted for next year:

No loafing—eight hours' sleep each night for all players.

Conditioning during the summer months by securing work.

Definite practice hours.

Written excuse for missing practice.

Parents' permit for all players.

Purchasing of shoes and head gear by players and responsibility for schools' uniforms and suits.

Strict diet—no poetry.

Chalk talks at convenient times.

Individual conference between each player and coach.

A tackling dummy will be purchased for football practice by the school.

HEARING ON TRAIN REMOVAL IS SET FOR APRIL 24

DIRECTORS OF C. C. MEET TO STUDY PROBLEM

Railroad Company Wants to Take Two Trains Off Appleton-Eland Route

Wisconsin railroad commission will hold a hearing at the courthouse at 11 o'clock Friday morning, April 24, relative to discontinuing of two trains on the Ashland division of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, according to notice received by A. C. Bosser, city attorney.

The company applied to the commission on March 3 asking permission to discontinue train No. 128 leaving Appleton Junction at 5:15 in the afternoon and arriving at Eland at 7:50 in the evening. The company also wants to discontinue train No. 129 leaving Eland at 11:15 in the morning and arriving at Appleton Junction at 1:35 in the afternoon.

No movement has been started here to protest the annulment of these trains. Appleton Chamber of Commerce intends to discuss the matter at a meeting of its board of directors Friday evening and will try to determine what effect the change will have.

It is expected that cities north west of Appleton will have something to say as to the curtailment of service, since the number of trains operating over the division is considerably less than a few years back.

Automobiles and Motorbuses traffic is blamed for the situation. The railroad company contends that these two trains have been running since December, 1924, at loss of $1.10 per train mile.

Fond du Lac Ends Y. M. C. A. Campaign

George F. Werner, general secretary of Appleton Y. M. C. A., and F. J. Harwood, president, left Friday morning for Fond du Lac where they were to attend the banquet at close of one of the most successful financial campaigns ever put on by a Wisconsin association. The campaign was for $40,000 and the amount raised was well over $62,000. The money will take care of a small deficit, and building improvements and operating costs for the next three years.

A. G. Goodwin, who conducted a successful membership campaign for the local association a few years ago, had charge of the Fond du Lac drive. He is a member of the national council of the Y. M. C. A. budget committee. H. Eyer, well-known Fox River Valley High School Conference basketball and football official, is secretary of the Fondy association.

First National Bank Bowlers Whip Citizens

Bowlers from First National bank defeated a team from the Citizens National bank by a score of 672 to 549 at Aid Association for Lutherans alleys Thursday night.

The teams: First National bank, J. Wiseman, G. Buboltz, E. Patzer, C. Schwerle and A. Welsh.

Citizens National bank, Alvin Stroschein, C. Vanable, H. Voeks, A. Stoegebauer and I. Koepke.

Hustlers Submit To Bible Study Exams

The annual Bible study examination of the Hustler club of the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. was held at 4:30 Friday afternoon. The examination covers all the Bible work that the club members have taken up in three months, and club points are awarded. Arthur Tuttle, Lawrence senior, conducted the tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ballheim and son Ira, Mrs. Irene Mignon and daughter, Lois May, Mrs. John Wagner, all of Appleton, and Mrs. Henry Nickel and Frank Ballheim of Seymour, attended the funeral of Fred Ballheim at Underhill Thursday morning. The body was sent to Milwaukee for interment Friday morning.

Arbor Day To Be Observed In Public Schools Here

No public programs have been arranged for Arbor day, April 22, in the Appleton schools, but quiet observance of the day will be held in many of the classrooms. Stories will be told and some of the students will give readings.

Arbor day was originated in 1872. The "treeless state," as Nebraska then was called, set the first record of tree-planting day when the state board of agriculture adopted a resolution by J. Sterling Morton designating April 10 for that purpose. In that year more than a million trees were planted and in 1885 the state legislature changed the date to April 22, in honor of Morton's birthday.

Now 700,000 acres have been planted in Nebraska and that state by resolution has changed its name to "The Tree Planter State."

Tennessee and Kansas adopted Arbor Day in 1875. Then there was a lapse until 1882, when Ohio and North Dakota decided to have tree-planting days. In Ohio the date resulted in the forming of what is now the American Forestry association.

The war gave a great impetus to tree-planting and the day after the armistice was signed, the American Forestry association began its campaign for memorial tree-planting, a custom which is observed now throughout the nation.

PYTHIANS WILL ROLL IN STATE BOWLING MEET

Several Appleton Pythians will leave Saturday for Milwaukee where they will bowl in the state Knights of Pythias tournament Saturday night and Sunday. Five teams will make the trip and practically every one of the 25 keyholes also will roll in the doubles and singles events. Appleton five-man teams roll at 7:30 Saturday night and doubles and singles entries Sunday noon.

Traxler Can't Be Here Next Monday

Janessville City Manager Calls Off Engagement to Speak to Lions

Henry Traxler, city manager of Janessville, who was scheduled to speak at the luncheon of Appleton Lions club next Monday noon, has notified the program committee that he will be unable to be here on that date because of an important meeting of his city council on Monday evening. Arrangements were made at once to have Attorney V. J. Minahan of Green Bay, one of the best known lawyers in Wisconsin, give an address.

Mr. Traxler probably will be asked to speak here on May 4. Since the announcement was made that the city manager would talk here numerous people sought invitations to the club luncheon and preparations were being made to accommodate a large crowd.

Mr. Minahan is expected to discuss interesting features of the legal profession, especially as they are applied to every day life.

Mayor Wants Folks To See Radii Marks

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., the city council and a committee of Third and Fifth ward residents met Thursday afternoon to inspect street corner radii marked out at various street intersections with a view to testing the practicability of a plan of calculating radii suggested by Alderman George Richard.

The corner of North and Morris streets was chosen as the most typical intersection in the city. Here the city engineer marked out radii of 15, 20, 25 and 30 feet on the northeast corner, and on the southeast corner he followed the plan advocated by Alderman Richard.

According to this plan the radii shall be equal to the smallest distance from the inside of the sidewalks to the inside of the curb on the intersecting streets. The mayor stated that under Richard's plan about one foot would be cut off from the present corner—that is the curb would have to be set back about a foot. In that instance, the mayor pointed out, there might as well be no change made at all, for widening the corner twelve inches would be of very little help to traffic.

Mayor Goodland suggested that every property owner in Appleton should inspect corners that have been marked out, in order to acquaint himself with the problem.

The combined committees failed to reach a definite conclusion Thursday and the council and the citizens committee still are considering the matter.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Many years ago Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., originated her now famous Vegetable Compound for women, by steeping roots and herbs on her kitchen stove. The fame of its success for overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women spread far and wide until today the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is said to be the largest user of roots and herbs in the world. It operates a large laboratory at Lynn, Mass., others at Colborne, Canada; Mexico City, Mexico; Barcelona, Spain, and Paris, France, adv.

Appleton Printers Get Green Bay Job

Several members of the staff of the West Green Bay high school annual publication visited in Appleton Friday. The boys took the "copy" for the year book to an Appleton printing plant and spent most of the day here. They were entertained at the local Y. M. C. A. by members of H-Y club.

Ed Wildenkampf is building a new barn on his farm at Bailey's corner, town of Center. One old barn and part of another were torn down to make room for the new building.

Cultivate Vitality To Remain Beautiful And Become Popular

"Keep as young as you can as long as you can. That is the only beauty secret worth knowing."

This pearl of wisdom is a French proverb.

And it is the secret of the charm for which French women are justly famous.

The women of France are not beautiful women, as a whole. Their features are too big, for one thing. And their complexions are too sallow.

But their "pep", . . . the vitality that lends a sparkle to their eyes and a springiness to their walk—gives them an attraction beyond mere beauty.

I sat in the lounge of a liner in mid-ocean one Sunday afternoon recently watching the women around me. Some of them were Americans, some were English, and a few were French. The English women were very staid and dignified, the Americans talked in a lazy sort of way. But the French women were alive!

They chattered and laughed. They were enormously interested in everything around them. They talked not only with their tongues, but with their sparkling eyes and their expressive hands and shoulders.

Sarah Bernhardt was like that. For years and years we people of America went to the theater to see her act. Most of us didn't understand a word that she said. It was her vitality . . . her "pep" that drew us!

That same thing is true of some of the movie actresses today.

Gloria Swanson is not good-looking. But she is filled with a liveliness that comes, tingling, to her audiences from the black and white screen.

Then there is the case of Constance Talmadge.

They say that Constance is the most popular girl in all America. They say she has more beauty than any other six girls from Harlem to Hollywood!

"But don't blame it on my looks," Constance said the other day. "No body ever tells me my hair is like spun gold, or my eyes like stars. Every body I know, though, has come to me privately and asked: 'Ye gods, where did you get all your pep?'"

And where do you suppose she gets it, her pep?

From using it up, she says!

Health Hints

HEART TROUBLE

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Mann were upset very much over what the doctor told Mr. Mann about his heart. Both were tickled, and could hardly realize that they were not more seriously ailing with some sort of malady.

The hint of a possible heart weakness, however, stirred their interest, and they began a study of the heart, its troubles and what to do to keep from "dropping dead" suddenly as folk do in the papers.

Their interest was heightened when they learned that heart trouble is responsible for one-ninth of the deaths at all ages, and for one-sixth of the deaths in persons of 40 and over.

Heart trouble kills more people than tuberculosis, more than cancer, apoplexy, pneumonia or Bright's disease.

In addition there are thousands suffering from some kind of heart disorder. It is estimated that more than 2,000,000 persons in the United States are subjects of serious heart defects.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I read in a magazine the other day, Little Marquise, that after a man and woman were married some years they acquired something better and even sweeter than the thrill of passionate love.

Little Marquise, you never married your kingly lover, so of course you do not believe that and let me make a confession right here to you. Neither do I believe it. I haven't as yet acquired anything that is sweeter than my love for Jack and I want to love him just as I did that day when I married him 'mid the pomp and ceremony of a church wedding.

I want to love Jack just as I did when I found out that he had probably loved another girl before quite as much as he did me now and my heart nearly broke. I want to love him just as much as I did when I forgave him for loving someone before he loved me—for making me realize always that nothing of love that he could say to me, he had not before said to another woman.

I want to love him so much that I can only ask, "Do you love me best?" Instead of "Do you love me only?" I want to love him so much that I can be that almost impossible thing a companion as well as a sweetheart.

Above all else, I want to be friends with Jack, and I am afraid I am not. He never seems to want to be friends with me. He either loves me a great deal or hates me, and it makes my heart beat with fear at times because if what every one says is true and married life must be settled down into friendship, then my happiness will not last.

Jack is a most satisfactory lover. Little Marquise, when he finds time to make love, but these occasions are few and far between and his mind is taken up with other things. He doesn't seem to think that I have any interest or knowledge of the things that he is interested in the outside world.

For sharing this material interest he goes to Sally Atherton. She knows more about that side of him than I do, much more.

No, Little Marquise, I am not jealous of her but I do wish that even if Jack did not take me into his confidences when his business troubles him, he would at times understand that I at least know enough about business to sympathize with him intelligently.

Household Hints

WOODEN UTENSILS

Do not dry wooden kitchen utensils such as chopping bowl and mixing fork and spoons over artificial heat as this will cause them to warp and crack.

IRONING BOARD

Your ironing board should wear a cover when it is not in use so as to keep it as clean as possible.

TO KEEP EGG YOLKS

Egg yolks, if they are unbroken, may be covered with water and kept for several days. The water should be changed daily.

TO AIR MATTRESS

A good way to air the mattress is to stand it up against the wall or draw it over the foot board.

TO CLEAN LACE

Gold and silver lace embroidery may be cleaned by brushing with alcohol or gasoline.

DINNER TABLES

Dinner tables in steady use ought to be washed and polished monthly if you want them in the pink of condition.

How To Make Homes Cozy

PROPER PLACE FOR BED

The bed should never be placed in the cross-draft between windows of adjoining walls. This is more a matter of health than of beauty.

Tailored Suit

When you do run across a tailored suit in the spring collections, it is quite apt to be distinctive and striking. Here is one with a very long coat and an overblouse of white plaid with bound buttonholes. The whole effect is very straight and tubelike.

FASHION HINTS

VIOLET CLUSTERS

Clusters of white or colored violets are used very effectively on the new spring hats.

INEXPENSIVE DRESS

Inexpensive dresses of jersey or kasha are trimmed with jabots of dotted silk, the dots being about the size of pennies.

SMALL BANGKOK HAT

The small hat of bangkok, made and trimmed exactly like the small felts we have been wearing is very smart with the spring outfit.

HIGH CROWNS PASSE

The very high, pinched-in crowns of the winter seem to be passing, and now we have a crown that is creased, but molded very closely to the shape of the head.

MODEL SPRING DRESS

An elaborate skirt and a very simple blouse seems to be the recipe for constructing the model spring dress.

NEW GREEN SHADE

There is a new shade of green that is causing a sensation in the fashion world. It has silver highlights

Hat Creates Beauty In Woman's Face

The color of your hat will determine its becomingness.

"Wear the color that will make you appear at your best," advises Miss Gladys Meloche, clothing specialist at the University of Wisconsin. Some color will bring out the color in your face while others will absorb every bit of color there. Other colors may even give the skin a green tint or a yellow hue.

The best colors for spring are tan shaded to deep henna, light, American beauty shaded to fuchsia, and orchid shaded to deep purple. Red purple and yellow red or apricot are included in this group and are some of the easiest colors to wear. On the other hand, yellow, pure purple, and yellow green are the hardest colors to wear, especially if the skin tends to be the least bit sallow.

BLACK THE ARISTOCRAT

Black continues to be the aristocrat of color. This is because of the fact that it will match all one's wardrobe. For the woman who has very little color in her face, a black hat makes her look paler than ever. However, if a woman prefers to wear a black hat even though she has very little color in her face, she may avoid this trouble by having the hat faced with a colorful material which is becoming to her complexion.

The large woman generally looks better in the more neutral and soft shades than in the brightest colors. The latter group of colors tend to emphasize her size and to make her height more conspicuous. The large woman also needs to avoid small ornaments on her hats.

RIBBONS AND FLOWERS

Violet or red-violet is becoming to people who have rosy complexions. Blue-violet is preferred to red-violet for the autumn hair type. The latter color would bring out a slightly green tone in the skin which would be very unbecoming with autumn hair. If the skin tends to be sallow, blue-violet tends to make it more and is extremely effective with silver or with rhinestones.

IT'S A NOVEL BELT

A novel belt is of snakeskin, made to look exactly like the reptile it came from with a silver head and ruby eyes. It is to be worn with a sweater or jumper costume.

FOR THE KIDDIES

For children English print designs are stressed in frock and bloomer combinations, heightened in interest by bands of plain fabric.

THE JABOT'S THE THING

The importance of the jabot increases daily on the tailleur and the formal type of dress alike.

LINEN FOR SPORT WEAR

Linen in woven stripes and checks as well as in plain colors is being sponsored for sport dresses.

CARVED CRYSTALS

Carved Chinese crystals strung with uncut crystal balls make lovely necklaces.

SPRING SUITS FEMINE

Suits for spring have a new and feminine charm. They are not severely tailored and are anything but masculine, but there is nothing fussy or intricate about them. The most popular materials are those with a very soft finish.

SLEEVE BRACELETS

Bracelets are worn over long sleeves so that they slightly gather in the fullness about the wrist.

"Gifts That Last"

NAVARRE PEARLS

—as a Birthday Remembrance

WE suggest Navarre Pearls as a most welcome birthday gift, because of their exquisite finish (guaranteed permanent) and their suitability to any occasion.

Each Navarre necklace comes in a jade velvet gift case. See our display.

mind about that now. What have you got?"

"Everything from a mouth-organ to a nut-plek," said the fairman. "Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Chris. "A lot of good they would do me. Have you such a thing as a mouse-trap?"

Now Mister Peg Leg had a mouse-trap, the very newest kind, but he didn't want to sell it to Chris after his remark. And he said so.

But Nick had an idea. "If Chris doesn't buy it, somebody else will," he said. "You'd better sell it to him, Mister Peg Leg. That will be ten cents more toward your new peg leg."

The little noddler was puzzled and so was Nancy, but anyway Mister Peg Leg opened his pack and fished out the mouse trap and handed it over.

Chris almost shouted for joy and paid the money without a word. "Now all I need is some cheese from the store and I'm all ready for supper," said he with a hungry snap.

"Whatever made you talk that way?" asked Mister Peg Leg when they were on their again.

"Don't you see?" answered Nick.

"We'll go right away and tell our mouse friends where to look for the trap and beware of it. It's much better to know where it is than not—besides you made ten cents and no body will come to any harm."

"You are a smart boy," said Peg Leg. "I never thought of that."

"Come on," said Nancy. "We'll tell Munch Mouse first."

So they told Munch Mouse and after a hunt they found Johnny Jumping Mouse and Dick Apple Mouse and Flop Field Mouse and everyone of them. I hope Chris Crow isn't waiting yet for his supper.

Chris Crow Buys A Trap

The next place that Mister Peg Leg and the Twins came to on their travels was old Chris Crow's house.

Chris was at home with his throat all tied up—as hoarse as a—I was going to say "crow," and just remembered in time. "Well, anyway, he was very hoarse."

"What's wrong, Chris?" asked Nick who knew him very well.

"Pip," croaked Chris.

"You should have Doctor Snuffles," said Nancy.

"Stuff," croaked Chris. "Stuff and nonsense. I won't take medicine. There's only one thing that would make me feel better and that's a corn sprout. But one may as well wish for a slice of the moon as corn just now next to that I'd like mouse—a nice juicy young, fresh tender, fat mouse."

"Tut! Tut!" said Mister Peg Leg. "You mustn't wish that. Munch and Flop Field Mouse and Johnny Jumping Mouse are all friends of mine—well as the apple-mouse and the house-mouse. They are good customers, too. I sell them cheese and candles."

"Customers? Are you selling some thing?" croaked Chris in surprise.

"Well, what do you think I've got this pack on my back for?" demanded Mister Peg Leg. "Did you think I was carrying it just for exercise?"

"Oh, no," said Chris hastily. "I thought perhaps you were bringing me a present. But anyway, never mind about that now. What have you got?"

FLATTERING FUR

Fur flatters a woman's neck more subtly than any words can, and she is a wise one who knows when to wind a bit about her throat. This miniature shows you a new fur style—a choker of white fox fastened with a pink velvet rose. It sounds a bit saccharine for anyone short of a baby doll, but it would be equally effective in any fox, and goes most beautifully with the frock with the bateau or round neckline.

Ten Are Entered In Seymour H. S. Speaking Events

Contest Will Take Place Tonight to Decide Who Will Be In League Race

Seymour—The preliminary oratorical and declamatory contest of Seymour high school will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening in Seymour auditorium. The two boys and girls winning first and second places will be eligible to the league contest April 24.

Boys in the oratorical contest and their selections are: Malcolm Knutson, A. Hope for Peace; Claude Huth, Christ of the Andes; Herbert Hansen, Behold the American. Girl entrants in the declamatory contest are: Lucille Drogger, Humoresque; Virginia Taggart, Mercedes; Alice Taggart, Cherry Blossoms; Elaine Huettl, Madame X; Rosella Thompson, The Little Rebel; Doris Nelson, The Golem of the White Swan; Lauretta VandenHeuvel, Afterward.

The first orchestra ever organized in a rural school of Outagamie county gave the program to patrons of North Osborn school Friday afternoon. The arrangements were in charge of the school literary society. A. G. Meating, county superintendent, was present.

Arthur Wendt of Osborn, will hold a farm auction Tuesday, April 21. His 40-acre farm, livestock and machinery will be sold, beginning at 1 o'clock.

Stewart Lambie, Appleton, has been employed as cow tester of Seymour-Black Creek Cow Testing association.

Orin Sherwood of Antigo, called at the home of Mrs. M. J. Stevenson Monday.

Edward Wiese has moved into his new residence at corner of High and Ivory-sts.

Dance at Brighton, Sat., Apr. 18. Menning Orchestra. Ladies Free.

Y. M. C. A. Directors Entertain For Visitor

Committeemen and members of the board of directors of Appleton Y. M. C. A. will be hosts at a supper at 6:30 Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. for Percy Foster, state secretary of the New Hampshire Y. M. C. A. who is traveling through Wisconsin at the invitation of the state association. Mr. Foster is making an inspection tour of state associations and will visit in Green Bay on Saturday. He is a candidate for the position of Wisconsin state secretary to succeed F. A. Hathaway who resigned to accept secretaryship for Illinois.

The air is so clear in Zululand that objects of fair size can be distinguished at a distance of seven or eight miles by starlight.

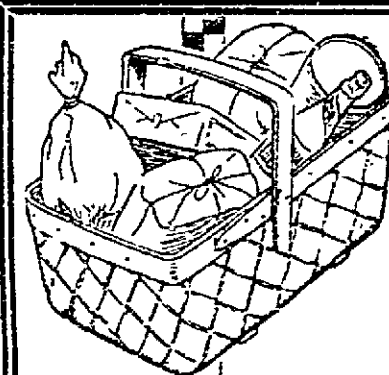

Workers in Norway and Sweden are demanding increased wages, asserting that the cost of living has increased.

DAY and night the big bakeries of this country are working to satisfy the cookie appetite of the people. Why this steadily increasing demand for cookies? Because every day more people are learning that good cookies are good food and that it is easier to buy them than to bake them.

There is a difference in meat
the same as in motor cars

When you buy a new motor car, you know and expect that the $3000 car is better than the $1500 car, — that the $1500 car is better than the $600 car, and the same with everything else.

So with meat, there are many different grades, that will give you satisfaction, comparative to the price that you pay for them.

Here at Voecks Bros. you will find economy in buying the Finest of Fine Meats.

DUSK FALLS ON BIG GAME HUNT IN OLD MEXICO

Southern Republic Adopts Stringent Measures to Protect Its Wild Life

By Associated Press
Tucson, Ariz.—Dusk has fallen on the big game hunters' day in Mexico. Thousands of deer, bear and wild hogs roaming the hunting grounds of the northern mountain ranges will be saved from overzealous hunters under restrictions invoked by the chamber of deputies upon the recommendation of Ben Tinker, Tucson, Mexico's American game warden.

Free hunting the year round, without regard for season or bag limit, which heretofore has made the Sinaloa and Sonora mountains a hunter's paradise, has been abolished under a complete new structure of game laws paralleling the American game restrictions, and the first on record for the preservation of game in the southern republic, observers here say.

Establishment of specified open game seasons according to zones, into which the various states are divided, are provided under the new law, according to Mr. Tinker, who has returned to Tucson from an extended trip to Mexico. But one month each year—October—is set aside for deer hunting along the coast, he said. The law protects both whitetail and blacktail deer from the hunters.

Three large zones, embracing respectively, the central, northern and coast regions, are provided. In each zone the bag limit on deer will be four for a hunter during the open season.

In the central zone the open deer season will begin Sept. 1, and close Oct. 31, and in the northern zone the season will begin Oct. 1 and end Nov. 30. Similar seasons are established on bear shooting, with the one-month rule also applying in this instance on the west coast, where wild beasts are more plentiful than in other parts of the republic.

The hopes of Dr. William H. Hornaday, manager of the Permanent Wild Life Protection fund, are realized in the new law, designed primarily, according to Mr. Tinker, to stop wholesale slaughter of Mexico's big game by Mexican market hunters and American trophy hunters.

England Aghast At Cut In Birth Rate

By Associated Press
Manchester—Decline of the birth rate in England has become a national peril in the opinion of Sir Robert Blair, former chief education officer of the London County Council. He estimated that within the next eight years there would be 2,000,000 fewer workers in this country.

"Within the last few years, the birth rate has fallen off tremendously," he said, "and appears even yet to be going down. We are losing 100,000 children a year from each group in the schools and on this basis, from calculations I have made, by 1932 there will be some 2,000,000 less workers in England."

Taking this year as an example, asserted Sir Robert, the board of education is budgeting for a million less children than in its budget of 14 years ago.

Decrease of the birth rate during the years of the war in some measure accounts for the reduction in the number of children who are now attaining school age, according to ministry of health officials.

WHIRL OF MODERN LIFE DRIVES MONKS TO HILLS

By Associated Press
Munich—The whirl of modern life, exemplified by automobile horns, radio, telephones and electric lights, is getting too much for the Trappist monks of Banz. Despairing of seclusion in their present monastery near Bamberg, they will soon withdraw to remote part of Bavarian mountains.

Several sites are under consideration, one of them a mountain top where once stood a baronial castle. Here it is felt that the penitential and silent days of the Trappist brothers could be passed without disturbance.

10 BIG SE 4 IN COLOR—1

1 General News Section

—the latest and most interesting news dispatches from the star correspondents of six of the world's greatest news services and The Journal's own New York, Washington and Madison news bureaus. If you will compare state, national and foreign news dispatches in the various Sunday papers, from the standpoint of timeliness, completeness, accuracy and interest for Wisconsin residents, you will readily see that Section 1 of The Sunday Milwaukee Journal has no equal.

2 City Life Section

For the most graphic accounts of important activity in Milwaukee during the week, Wisconsin people must read The Sunday Milwaukee Journal. More than four out of every five families in Milwaukee prefer this newspaper. One reason why The Journal covers news of Milwaukee in a superior way is the fact that this paper maintains a far larger staff of reporters in Milwaukee than any other newspaper. Furthermore, each is a specialist in his work, and The Journal has the advantage of wide connections and the prestige of leadership which assures an entree for stories that is not always shared by other papers. Journal city news is always plentifully illustrated—a special staff of photographers devote their full time to securing photographs of unusual news interest.

3 The 'PEACH' for Sports

Sport writers have as divided a following as dramatic stars. Those writers who please the greatest number of people have the largest following.

The Journal sport writers stand head and shoulders above all others in Wisconsin in popularity. You can depend on The Milwaukee Journal, with Sam Levy, Manning Vaughan, Billy Sixty and Ollie Kuechle on the local staff, and John B. Foster, Billy Evans, Iggoe, and others of like fame in the national field, to fill your order for sport news and pictures, better than any other newspaper. Amateur sports are given more attention in The Journal than in other papers. Wisconsin motorists, who read The Journal, have "Brownie"—pioneer motorist of the state—for guide, mentor and friend.

4 State News and Features

There are three reasons for The Journal's superiority in state news. First, The Journal maintains a far larger staff of resident state correspondents than any other newspaper—over 400 trained observers throughout Wisconsin write for The Journal. Second, The Journal is the only newspaper that maintains its own Madison news bureau and a staff of special writers who cover Wisconsin, preparing special articles about the state, its people, history, industry and resources. Third, The Journal is owned, published and prepared entirely by Wisconsin people who know what news Wisconsin people want.

AGE LEAVES MARK ON INN WAITERES PETAIN OBSERVES

French Marshal Visits Scene of Early Garrison Life to His Disappointment

Menton, France.—Marshal Petain, as a second lieutenant 40 years ago, served two years in a small post near Sospel on the French-Italian frontier.
Second Lieutenant Petain, whose resources were rather slim, took his meals at a modest inn kept by a young girl of remarkable beauty.
Recently Marshal Petain, representing the French army at the unveiling of a monument to the war dead here, decided to take the trip into the mountains and visit the scene of his garrison life as a second lieutenant. The marshal admitted to his aides that he was anxious to see how the former beauty of the inn looked after 40 years.
He found both the inn and its owner grown considerably larger. Forty years had worked a great contrast, however, in their respective appearance. The inn, refreshed with paint and reconstruction, had become considerably younger, while all the paint in the world could not hide the havoc that the years had wrought upon its once fair owner.
"Don't you recollect a second lieutenant called Petain who frequented your place some 40 years ago," the marshal asked of the old woman at the end of the meal when he saw that she had failed to recognize him.
"Oh, yes," the landlady replied simply, "little Petain, why he must be at least a captain by this time."

Book Tells Of Grant's Army Posts

By Associated Press
Spokane, Wash.—Little known incidents in the early army careers of Generals Ulysses S. Grant, Phil Sheridan and George B. McClellan are related in an account of a year they spent at old Fort Vancouver, Oregon territory, written by Mrs. Delia B. Sheffield, who as the wife of a sergeant in the Fourth United States Infantry, the command to which they were attached, shared their pioneering experiences there in pre-Civil war days.
A movement has been launched to restore old Fort Vancouver near what is now Vancouver, Wash., across the Columbia River from Portland, Ore.
The Fourth United States Infantry, one of the pioneer organizations of the army, now is stationed at Fort George Wright, Spokane.
Mrs. Sheffield's memoirs of these days have been made public by William S. Lewis, historian of the Eastern Washington Historical society, who received them from Mrs. Caroline Hathaway Cook, Mrs. Sheffield's daughter.
General, then Captain Grant, was regimental quartermaster and was in charge of the transportation of the Fourth Infantry on its long journey from Governor's Island, New York, to Fort Vancouver in 1852. The trip was commenced on July 5, by steamer for Aspinwall, Panama, and thence across the Isthmus of Panama by train, boat, on muleback and afoot. The officers were accompanied by their families and some of the women carried small bables.
To add to the difficulties of the journey, the California gold rush was in full swing, and after the regiment had boarded a steamer on the Pacific side of the Isthmus, Asiatic cholera broke out. San Francisco was reached September 1, but no shore leave was granted for fear of desertions to seek gold. At Benecia, Calif., an army post, the regiment went into camp to recuperate until September 18, and then again boarded ship for Fort Vancouver, which was reached some days later.

JAPAN BUILDS RADIO ON PACIFIC ISLAND OF YAP

Tokio — In accordance with the American-Japanese wireless agreement covering the island of Yap, one of the Caroline Islands in the Pacific now under Japanese mandate, the Japanese army proposes to erect a highpower radio station on the island next year at a cost of 1,500,000 yen.
This decision is, incidentally, to forestall American action along the same line. The Yap agreement provides that if Japan fails to provide adequate radio facilities on Yap, the United States shall have the right to erect a radio station there.

MACKS AND REDS LEAD MAJOR LEAGUE BALL CLUBS

Good Pitching Wins For Cincy But Athletics Put Over Victory By Slugging

Hartnett's Home Run Helps Elevate Cubs to Tie With Brooklyn Dodgers

New York—Two teams progressed to their third successive victories in the National and American Leagues Thursday by opposite routes. Pitching of an unusually high caliber for the early season carried the Cincinnati Reds to undisputed possession of first place in the senior league. After two previous displays of defensive strength given by Donohue and Laque, the former league champions, were pitched to a third victory over the Cardinals by Eppa Rixey, 7 to 3. In marked contrast to Cincinnati's method of triumph, Connie Mack's Athletics again rescued weak hurling by sheer hitting strength in piling up their third win over the Red Sox, 7 to 3. Eddie Rummel got away to a bad start in the first, when Boston scored all their three runs, but after that session he kept the home club away from the plate. The Phillies duplicated their opening day's total of 13 safeties.

Brooklyn slipped back to a tie with Chicago for second place in the National when four of their pitchers failed to check Philadelphia's hitting that was spread over the entire lineup.

Clarence Mitchell gave the Robins only six safeties, and the Quakers won by 8 to 1.

The Giants evened their series with the Braves, profiting by the superb pitching of the rejuvenated Jack Scott. Jack allowed the Baneroff entry only four hits and a single run.

The home runs by Clarence Hartnett figured conspicuously in boosting the Cubs into a tie with Brooklyn for second place through an 8 to 3 victory over Pittsburgh.

Cleveland and St. Louis put on the first real pitchers duel of the season. Uhle and Vandinger between them allowed only nine hits, and the former won only because Myatt was twice successful in circling bases, his homer in the ninth winning the game 2 to 1.

Washington took another slam at the Yankees and Chicago for third place by rouncing the New York Club 7 to 5. Hoyt was working on an apparently safe margin of five to two up to the ninth when Manager Huggins called upon Shocker. The champions refused to be intimidated and fell upon Urban for five hits.

Two home runs by Goslin and one by Judge figured in the Washington attack. With a two run lead the champions trotted over the pitching ancient Vern Gregg, who got by, allowing a hit to the Hugmen.

Lou Blue was back in the Detroit lineup, but his presence failed to save the Tigers in the ninth when a belated rally put the White Sox on top 4 to 2.

MICHIGAN HURLER IN NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Chicago—Pitcher Wakefield of the Michigan Arctics achieved a coveted distinction Thursday when he twirled a no-hit and no-run game against the Detroit Techs at Chicago. He struck out nine men and issued two passes.

Cop Prep Basketball Laurels

Meet the new national scholastic basketball champions—the Wichita, Kas., high quintet, winners of the title at the recent tournament held at Chicago.

Not only did the team from the Sunflower state romp through the affair in victorious fashion but it defeated practically all of its opponents by decisive scores.

In the final game to determine the championship, Wichita crushed the Reno high of Oklahoma, 27 to 6, the ultimate losers failing to register in the first half.

Strong Tilden-Johnson Tennis Combine Broken

BY ART CARLSON
Tennis' triumphant tyranny—the Tilden-Johnson combine—has at last been subdued. The reigning power of the two Bills, that covered a period of five straight seasons, has finally been crushed. For one of them—Johnston—has slid from off the throne.

In the 1924 tennis ranking, Johnston was placed third, giving way to Vincent Richards, who not long ago was called the "boy wonder of tennis." Tilden, of course, gained ten honors, just as he has done for the four previous seasons.

GREAT PAIR IN GAME
The Tilden-Johnson duo has long been the outstanding one in the net pastime. For six straight campaigns, "Big Bill" and "Little Bill" have swept through the field in the national singles event to reach the final round. And on all save one occasion—1919—"Big Bill" has emerged the victor.

In Davis cup play, the lanky Quaker and the diminutive Californian have carried the standards of Uncle Sam in a most successful manner. Year after year, virtually unaided, they defeated the best exponents of the game the world could produce. In the singles especially, they were well high invincible.

Since 1915, either one or the other or both have been placed with the first two in the annual rankings. They have been right up around the top for the past 10 seasons. Johnston first smashed his way into the highest honors in 1915. The following campaign he was placed second to R. Norris Williams 2d, the order of the previous year merely being reversed.

No rankings were made 1917, owing to the war, but 1918 found Tilden and Johnston again in the top two. Johnston was rated second to R. Lindley Murray, the champion. In 1919, Tilden and Johnston commenced their monarchial supremacy, ranking one-two right up until 1924, when Johnston, as mentioned, dropped back.

BETTER THAN WILDING, BROOKES
The tennis fraternity has never known a pair of racketeers who could compare with Tilden and Johnston, all things considered. True, that famous Australian team composed of Anthony Wilding and Norman Brookes made 'em all step out on the courts. But for consistency of do-tu performance over a span of years nothing the equal of the two Bills has been seen.

White Johnston's star seems now to be fading that of Tilden still glimmers forth as brilliantly as ever. So even should the little California ace pass completely out of the picture, tennisdom will still have one of its great duos ready to battle in its defense for some time to come.

Unless, of course, Tilden follows the style recently set by Benny Leonard and goes into retirement. Then—well, that would be something else again.

NOBLE, FORMER PAIR, SIGNS WITH MERRILL

Merrill—"Rube" Noble, twirler on the Tomahawk and Menasha teams last year, has signed with Eddie Stumpff's pitching staff. Noble was instrumental in the defeats handed out to Merrill last year at the hands of the Tomahawk nine. All the players who will represent Merrill this year are expected here by April 27 to play their opening game May 3.

1925 Orange Track Squad Goes Through First Real Outdoor Work This Week

Kevin Forced to Form Team from Green Material; One Letterman Out

Capt. Jule Kevin's 1925 track aspirants went through their first real workouts of the year on Wednesday and Thursday after a few preliminary indoor practices. The material is promising but inexperienced and will need lots of hard work to develop into valley champions this year. Last year's squad looked much more promising at this time. On last year's record, East Green Bay and Manitowish, with a number of letter men back, should be the favorites at the Lawrence meet.

Field events were given the preference Thursday. While the dashers and distance men went through their workouts, Kevin helped the vaulters, jumpers and hurdlers through a course of sprints. Form was the idea stressed in each of these events. In the broad jump, Cliff Courtney and Chuck Johnston showed the best work. Both hit the takeoff hard and jump well, but do not get the necessary height for good distance. They should go good after a few weeks' work.

In the pole vault, Eddie Frieders and Courtney showed plenty of stuff. If Dick Tuttrup comes out this should be the strongest event for this year's team. None of the high jumpers or hurdlers got a real workout but plenty of promising material is on hand for these events. Hurdlers spent part of the afternoon in leg-stretching exercises.

Steenis, 1925 football captain, is expected to show class in the weights, if he comes out. Two of the best men on the team are found in the sprints where N. Johnston and Roemer should hold their own with the best in the valley. Johnston, 1924 valley champion in the 440-yard dash, is showing speed in his 100-yard dash. Roemer, former grade school dash man of the valley last year, is certain of a place in the Lawrence 100-yard dash. He has as good a start in the dashes as any of the Blue sprinters. These two men should form the nucleus of a good relay team, with Single, Lee, Goss and other material to pick from.

If the green stuff comes through, Kevin should round out a squad that will make the East Bays and Shipbuilders step to win.

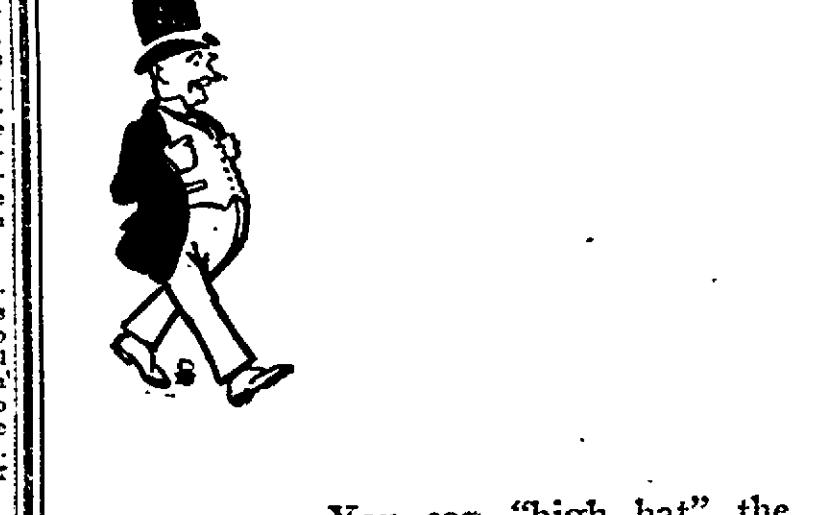

DENNY, FARLEY TO GO TO LITTLE FIVE MEET

A. C. Denny, athletic director of Lawrence college, and J. H. Farley, head of the Blue athletic board, will attend a meeting of representatives of Little Five conference members Saturday at the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. Mark Catlin, Blue football mentor, may attend the meeting also.

BIG LEAGUE SLUGGERS GET 10 HOMERS DAILY

Chicago—The sluggers race for home run honors which opened "riskily" on the first day of the major league season has developed an average of ten homers a day, without the assistance of Babe Ruth has received talk of the "rabbit ball."

The American League Parks have seen twice as many homers as the nationals but Charles "Babby" Hartnett, Chicago Cub catcher leads the field of 25 with a record of three to date. The twenty home runs of the American league are divided among 15 players while there are seven swatmen in the National league who have accounted for ten circuit clouts. Detroit is the only club without a home run hitter to date.

JAWSON-KAHN GO HEADS STAR RING CARD AT BAY CITY

State Lightweight Champ Mixes With Cream City Favorite April 27

Green Bay—Harry Kahn, Milwaukee vs. Joe Jawson, Milwaukee, ten rounds.
Young Wycko, Wausau, vs. Walter Grayjack, Milwaukee, eight rounds.
Rube Schipper, Oshkosh, vs. Young Geimer, Two Rivers, six rounds.
Eddie Stack, De Pere, vs. Kild Ingelson, Kaukauna, four rounds.

A ten round scrap featuring Harry Kahn, holder of the state lightweight championship belt, and Joe Jawson, one of the best boys that ever pulled on a glove in Milwaukee, will head line the April 27 show to be staged by the Green Bay Boxing club at the Park Armory. Three other good scraps have been listed and the fistic moguls think they have rounded up a first class pugilistic program. The wind up bout is at 135 pounds.

Two of the star performers at the last show staged here, Young Wycko of Wausau and Rube Schipper, the husky Oshkosh footballer, will again appear. Wycko will swap punches with Walter Grayjack, an experienced mauler from the Cream City while Schipper has been put on with Young Geimer, a husky batter from Two Rivers. Both these bouts look good. Wycko is a smooth working mit swinger while Grayjack is credited with possessing quite a wallop. Eddie Stack of De Pere is slated to exhibit his fistic wares in the opening scrap, a four round affair, against Kild Engelson of Kaukauna. This youngster from the Electric City is said to have all the earmarks of a corner and he may make things quite interesting for Stack.

Dauber Jaeger, who worked the Nuss-Conley bout so satisfactorily, has been engaged to handle all the scraps on the coming fight card.

Fish Are Biting!

FIREMEN REST FOR FIRST TIME IN MANY WEEKS

For the first time in more than a month Appleton fire department was without a summons to a fire during a period of 24 hours. Not a wheel was turned by the big red engines all day Thursday and during Thursday night. "It seems as if we have been out at least once every day for the last two months," said Chief George P. McGilgan, "and it is an unusual thing just now to have a day's rest."

Grass, rubbish and roofs, the principal sources of fire, were wetted down thoroughly by the rain early in the week and they do not ignite very easily. The spring had been an unusually dry one, creating fire hazards not usually encountered at this time of the year.

State Debating Champs Establish Splendid Record

Fort Atkinson Has Been Contender for State Title for Several Years

Fort Atkinson, champion of the high school debating league for 1923, has an enviable record in this work according to the records of the college forensic office. Within the last four years, besides winning the championship cup this year, the school has won four banners for excellency, and was the banner champion of southern Wisconsin for 1923.

The summary of the record follows:
1922, 8 debates, won 6, lost 2, fifth position in the state.
1923, 10 debates, won 9, lost 1, second position in the state.
1924, 6 debates, won 4, lost 2, eighth position in the state.
1925, 12 debates, won 11, lost 1, first position in the state.
Total for four years, 36 debates, won 30, lost 6, percentage 83.3-3.

Fort Atkinson has also made a financial success in debate that is worthy of note. During the first two years, debate was self supporting. Many of the thirty-six debates engaged in demanded trips to many cities, one debate being held 350 miles from Fort Atkinson. In spite of this a surplus of $45 remained last year, and this year there is a surplus of $65 left.

The Chippewa Falls-Kaukauna-Fort Atkinson triangle which was won by Fort Atkinson and gave the championship of the state to the school, $180.98. At the Kaukauna-Fort Atkinson debate at Fort Atkinson, the attendance was 650 and $155.82 was taken in.
Special mention should be made of the work of Kaukauna in the league this year. The school did not lose a debate until the finals, and won most of her debates by unanimous decision. Kaukauna had a hard break in luck for the finals. On the day before the meet the leader of one of the teams became sick and there was not time enough to train another speaker. However the other two on the team carried on the debate, one member speaking twice, and the team won the decision of one judge.

DISCUSS CLEAN-UP AT LEGION DISTRICT MEET

Oney Johnston post of the American Legion will send at least two representatives to the convention of Ninth district posts at Green Bay Sunday, according to Commander Thomas Morrissey. The convention will discuss the membership drive, formulate plans for the final clean-up in the state and begin preparations for the national endowment fund campaign.

Commander Morrissey and Henry Pettigrew, county contact officer, will attend the convention, and it is possible that several more officials and members of the Oney Johnston post will accompany them. The convention will be opened at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the legion club-rooms at Green Bay.

Maloney In Charge Of Greenville Pavilion

Charles Maloney will feature "A Night in Paris" at the opening of Greenville pavilion Sunday, April 19. Mr. Maloney formerly was manager of Waverly and Brighton pavilions and at present is conducting ball rooms and skating rinks in various parts of the state. Among the novelty features for the opening night will be spotlight, rainbow and balloon dances. The Kentucky Aces have been engaged to furnish music.

London school children took out more than 2,500,000 books from the city library last year, as compared with 714,000 twenty years ago.

TWO ODD FELLOW AND TWO REBEKAH LODGES IN MERGER

Two of the oldest fraternal organizations in Appleton will pass out of existence next Thursday when Venus Rebekah lodge and Rhine lodge of the Odd Fellow order merge with the Deborah Rebekah and Konomic lodges of this city. The Venus and Rhine lodges are to give up their charters and consolidate with the other two groups.

The program for the festivities has not been completed, but plans thus far call for a supper in the evening, followed by services in both halls. W. F. Saecker of Konomic lodge is chairman of arrangements.

C. Of C. Helping City Complete Contest Work

Race for $1,000 Wisconsin
Prize Within Month of Time to File Survey Data

Appleton Chamber of Commerce will devote most of its attention for the next month to the better cities contest of the Wisconsin Conference of Social work, largely in the capacity of helping the 12 committees to compile the information for their surveys.

The contest for the prize of $1,000 ends June 1 and all the surveys must be completed and boiled down into a brief for Appleton's claims to the award before the date. The reports include almost all forms of municipal and community work, health promotion, education, culture, municipal efficiency and rural cooperation evident here.

Schedules for the educational committee, of which Dr. D. O. Kinsman is chairman, have been revised by the contest headquarters at Madison and the new papers have been received here so that the work may be completed.

Appleton's claims to the prize will be set forth in an attractive report which soon will be in preparation. This is to be submitted to the judges, who will go over the data for each city entered and decide which is the best place for the average family to live and bring up children.

The report here will be a written picture of the city, as if the judges were being taken on a sight-seeing trip. It will take them from the entrance to the city at the south over Cherry's bridge and then through its business and civic building sections, its parks and residential zones. A large number of photographs will be included, to illustrate what the city has to offer. This material will be used later in a new booklet which the chamber will issue about Appleton.

In New York and Massachusetts, women are not eligible to jury service.

New Dresses of Plain Crepes in Distinctive Styles and Very Superior Qualities -- $15.

OUR NEW YORK OFFICE worked last week with the buying staff of one of New York's Largest Stores to secure this remarkable group of TWO HUNDRED DRESSES. These dresses will go on sale tomorrow at the Same Bargain Price at which they are being sold in a great sale in New York City this week!

This Sale brings ONLY DISTINCTIVE DRESSES FOR FASHIONABLE WOMEN. There are only dresses of smart outline and fashionable trimmings. QUALITY has been considered before elaborate decorations! Women who are in the habit of wearing $30. and $50. dresses will be the only ones interested in these; for they are styled and look just like expensive models!

Afternoon and party dresses are shown in flat crepe and satin Cantons in plain shades of rosewood, blonde, powder blue, fallow, peach, rust, tiliun, and Larvin green. The simple trimmings include circular flouncings, pleats, apron effects, tuckings, applique, machine embroideries and net bandings. Each dress is distinctly FINE! Sizes 16 to 42 at ONLY $15.

Unequalled Values in Printed Crepe Dresses in Exclusive Patterns and Clever Styles -- $15.

The slender girl who wishes many pleatings and bright sport effects will find just the dress of her dreams in these printed ones! The matronly woman with the need of slenderizing dresses and flattering necklines will find just her type, too!

These printed dresses are UNEXAMPLED for fineness of material and care in designing, for beauty of workmanship and perfection of outline, at the price of $15. This bargain is only possible because we were able to buy in connection with other stores using enormous quantities.

Printed silk frocks are also shown in the new two-piece styles for young women—a printed blouse and plain skirt that is entirely pleated! Every outstanding style of the season for every type of woman is included in these EXCEPTIONAL VALUES AT $15. Sizes 16 to 46.

Tub Silk Dresses in Patterns for Fine Sport Wear and All the Colors of Spring -- $15.

DRESSES FINE ENOUGH FOR SPORT WEAR and low priced enough to wear at home in the mornings are these fine tub silk styles! They are shown in dainty cross bar designs—in light, small patterns—and in more vivid styles. Plain colored neck trimmings make them more attractive. Unusual effects are shown in style after style, and in all sizes from 16 to 46.

These three groups bring every type of a dress that fashionable women will wear this season at the EXTRAORDINARILY LOW PRICE OF ONLY $15. No dress in the sale has ever been shown before at Pettibone's, or in Appleton.
